German Prophecy Mid-May Will See Start Of Invasion

Interpretation By
Mirke L. Simpson
(Wide World War Analyst)

Invasion hitherto running rampant through Hitlerized western Europe since this week-end stirred Nazi prophecy that mid-May will see the start of the invasion at last and the battle for all to read.

The tides in the North sea and the English channel would seem best calculated about them to the great Allied adventure that could end the war in Europe this year. Other factors such as weather portents which could alter the actual Allied jump-off in Britain are not down in the cards for all to read.

Half way round the earth, however, over the shadows of the mid-May invasion in northeastern India and northern Burma, there is no doubt as to the significance of the mid-May or longer any question as to its wet, windy approach must be to aid the Allied cause against the Axis.

The southwest monsoon can be likened to a railroad train once its gusts sweep across the Bay of Bengal, to eventually crash against the Himalayas and let loose deluges that are due to happen by May 15, the monsoon onset, frustrated Chinese invaders of India will be off from their Upper Burma bases to escape route by flooded rivers valley quagmires. Their fate is sealed even now.

Allied armies on the Imphal plain in India are reported on the attack ward. The great rains will no

U. S. LOSES 23 HIGH OFFICERS

That Number Taken By Death
Or Missing In Action
In War

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—The United States has lost 23 high officers of the army, navy and Marine corps in this war, either by death or missing in action.

Thirteen army generals, eight flag officers of the navy and two Marine generals have been killed, become missing or died during operations directly related to the war. Four are listed as killed in action and six are carried on the missing list. Plane crashes while traveling in or to war zones or in connection with military operations account for most of the others.

The war has taken its toll among high ranking officers of other belligerents too, including the Japanese Admirals Isoroku Yamamoto and Mitsunori Koga and Germany's Field Marshal Werner von Fritsch and Colonel General Ernst Udet.

Britain's Major General Orde Charles Wingate was killed recently in a Burma plane crash and Lieutenant General William Henry Edwards ("Strafer") Gott was reported in August, 1942, to have been killed in the

RUSSIANS SINK 8 GERMAN SHIPS

Number Sent Down Off Sevastopol Boosted To 19

SOVIETS CLAIM 200 SUNK
BY AIRPLANES IN APRIL

LONDON, Sunday, May 7.—(P)—The Soviet high command announced last night that Russian naval-air units had sunk eight more Axis ships near Sevastopol in the Crimea, making a total of 19 in two days, and said Red army troops repulsed local counter-attacks in former Poland.

Two hundred Germans were killed southeast of Stanislav in the area between the upper Dnestr river and the Carpathian mountains, said a mid-night bulletin telling of the only land activity reported by Moscow. Russian airmen also attacked a German field in that sector.

The German high command said Axis troops, besieged at Sevastopol since mid-April, again had beaten off heavy Red army infantry and tank attacks supported by artillery. Axis broadcasts located the most violent fighting as along the Chornaya river on the northeast side of Sevastopol.

Berlin also reported collapse of Russian assaults east of the Middle Siret river in Romania, but Moscow was silent on these operations as the land front full entered the third week.

A Russian Tass agency review said Russian planes during April had sunk about 200 ships, including destroyers, minesweepers, torpedo boats and several dozen transports totaling more than 100,000 tons. Most of these vessels sank in the Black sea on the Axis sea lanes from the Crimea to Romania, said the review.

The broadcast Moscow bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor here said Russian planes Thursday and Thursday night sank one 2,000-ton transport and two patrol launches and seriously damaged two other enemy transports in the Black sea.

West of Sevastopol Soviet motor torpedo boats routed an enemy convoy and scored direct torpedo hits which sank three transports totaling 8,000 tons and two high speed landing barges, the bulletin said.

Sixty-two enemy planes were destroyed on all fronts during Friday, Moscow said.

The steady sinking of Axis rescue and supply ships off Sevastopol appeared to be part of the Russian

'GARDENIA MURDER' SUSPECT DIVORCED

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(P)—Mrs. Olga Abadie Green, New Orleans business and club woman, today had her divorce granted by Judge Robert L. Gardner, after a long and bitter fight.

The divorce was granted by Civil District Judge Harold A. Moise. Suit was entered last August under the name of Mrs. Richard Carl Gardoff, III, the name under which Mrs. Green said she was married to Gardner July 29, 1942.

Mrs. Green's petition charged that Gardner had married several women following his desertion of her and had married at least one other before his "marriage" here.

Gardner was arrested by federal agents in New York last March after two women charged him with obtaining money from them after obtaining marriage. Later he was removed to California for questioning in connection with the slaying of Mrs. O. Murree, whose body, a crushed gardenia beneath it, was found on a Los Angeles golf course last year.

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Sunday, May 7.—(P)—Allied neutralization raids of New Guinea north coast sectors still in Japanese hands have been made from Hansa bay to Sarmi, headquarters announced in today's communiqué.

Hansa bay is 350 miles southeast of Rabaul, New Britain, Kavieng, New Ireland, and Kahili, Bougainville, also were given air attention.

The steadily neutralized enemy bases of Rabaul, New Britain, Kavieng, New Ireland, and Kahili, Bougainville, also were given air attention.

Dutch-floated Mitchell's which recently began hitting Keapang, Dutch Timor, did it again.

At a cost of one fighter, planes from the Solomons dropped 28 tons of bombs on Kavieng and the nearby Borop air base.

Rabaul was given 70 tons Thursday, making nearly 500 tons dropped there during the past five days. The concrete runway of Vunakanau airfield was cratered.

Runway hits also were scored by Liberators at Kahili, on Bougainville's south coast.

Dejected, half-starved Japanese soldiers, defeated in the Hollandia area of Dutch New Guinea, are surrendering to their American conquerors in greater numbers than in any other Southwest Pacific campaign.

United States airmen continue to blast their air fields in that general region.

Advices from the headquarters of General Douglas A. MacArthur indicate that many of the Japanese have discarded their earlier fanatical "suicide" rather than capture theory and are voluntarily surrendering.

Hundreds killed themselves rather than fall into enemy hands. The picture has changed. Today the Hollandia stockade holds 135 prisoners and

U. S. BLACKLISTS 38 IRISH FIRMS

Concerns And Businessmen
Are Accused Of Aiding Enemy

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—The United States tonight blacklisted 38 Irish firms and businessmen accused of aiding the enemy.

The action was the first taken by this government to express through economic measures its disapproval of Irish activities in connection with the war.

Never before has any Irish firm been blacklisted, although concerns in many other neutral countries in both this hemisphere and the European area had been put on the record which now totals approximately 15,000 names.

Listing means that government officials consider they have adequate evidence that the concerns are contributing to the enemy in such a manner as to contribute to the support of his war machine.

The sanctions applied range from denial of all facilities to post-war penalties which will place those firms at a competitive disadvantage in the early months of economic reconstruction.

The state department declined to say why any individual firm was blacklisted or to describe the activities of any firm. Some of the 38 have Irish names while others were German language names, apparently branches of German firms.

The disclosure that Ireland was being listed was the first step in implementing the new policy announced Thursday by Francis Russell, chief of the division of world trade intelligence, state department, and chairman of the interdepartmental committee which controls the blacklist.

Russell announced that it would not

THREE ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASHES

MALLEN, Tex., May 6.—(P)—A lieutenant, a flight officer and a cadet were killed in two valley plane crashes today, the Moore field public relations office announced.

Second Lieutenant William A. Steller, 29, Newark, N. J., was killed in a crash northwest of Edinburg.

Flight Officer Earl R. Westfall, 25, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Cadet George M. Wallace, Jr., 20, of Shreveport, La., died in a crash nine miles northwest of Rio Grande City this morning.

LEGISLATURE TO OPEN ROUTINELY

First Procedures Of Session
Strikingly Similar
Every Year

BATON ROUGE, La., May 6.—(P)—First procedures of the Louisiana legislature are so similar every year, Capitol old timers reported today, that a "tomorrow's news today" story might be written fairly accurately on first-day happenings at the session opening this Monday noon.

On the basis of past performances, they say, here, starting with the house, is a preview in chronological order.

Lee Laycock, former clerk of the house, will call its members to order, ask for a prayer (always by a Catholic clergyman), swear in the members in groups of about 25 each and then call for nominations for speaker.

Candidates include Norman Bauer of Franklin, seeking re-election, and endorsed by Governor-Elect Davis; and possibly Representative Robert Angelle of Breauville.

The clerk appoints tellers, calls the roll, declares the high man elected (no runoff), swears him in as speaker and turns the meeting over to the speaker.

First act of the speaker is to call for nominations for a clerk, and Laycock so far is the only announced candidate.

The house then elects its member on the three-man legislative bureau, to meet with one from the senate and one from the attorney general's department to study the constitutionality of bills.

Next, but not necessarily in this order, comes one "must" bill of legislation—appropriation of salaries and expenses for both houses—election of a sergeant at arms, adoption of a resolution notifying the governor and senate that the house is in session, and one calling for a joint session at 3:30 p.m.

The senate, meantime, will have been convened by former Secretary Robert Gilbert, and one of its first acts will be election of a secretary, sought by Pat Juneau, and of a president pro-tem, sought by Grove Stafford, Alexandria, endorsed by Davis, and possibly by several others, including Senator Albert A. Friedricks of Natchitoches.

The joint session will include adoption of a resolution promulgating results of the general election and declaring Governor Davis and Lieutenant Governor Emile Verret elected.

FIVE ROMANIAN CENTERS RAIDED

Selected German Anti-Invasion Installations
Hammered

BOMBING IS CARRIED ON
FOR 22ND STRAIGHT DAY

LONDON, May 6.—(P)—American Liberators and Marauders cast 1,000 tons of explosives on the 100-mile stretch of landing beaches nearest Britain today, and a United States fleet of perhaps 750 Mediterranean bombers smashed five Romanian rail cities handling German traffic for the Russian front.

Carefully selected German anti-invasion installations were hammered between Calais and Dieppe on the French coast just across from Dover's chalk cliffs on the 22nd straight day of the furious aerial offensive.

The Axis-controlled Paris radio said many localities were attacked in the area and heavy casualties occurred.

The Allied command sent nearly 500 Liberators and escorting Mustangs, Lightning and Thunderbolt fighters against the Calais sector without loss in the morning. The attack was made despite bad weather which in the past had halted such flights.

In the evening American Marauders and other Allied bombers crossed, concentrating on emplacements south of Calais between Boulogne and Dieppe.

The Paris radio fell silent later at night, indicating a possible R. A. F. night assault carrying the offensive into its 23rd straight day.

The attacked Nazi coastal installations in the Pas-De-Calais area are so secret that even now after more than 100 assaults on them they have not been described in detail. Return- ing Liberators, however, said each wave of American planes chose a different target, bombing through an overcast. No German fighters were met; ground fire was sporadic and ineffective.

The avalanche of bombs on Romania was the heaviest operation of the day. Roaring over targets still smoldering from concentrated attacks the day before, United States Flying Fortresses and Liberators struck these rail tar-

BELIEVE TRUNK BODY IDENTIFIED

Chicago Police Furnish Picture, Description Of Missing Woman

CHICAGO, May 6.—(P)—Police disclosed tonight they had obtained a picture of a woman who had been living with a man in a hotel here as Mrs. John Lopez and said they would use it in an attempt to identify the woman whose nearly nude, salt-packed body was shipped from Chicago to Los Angeles in a trunk.

The trunk was brought into a Rail- way Express agency office here for shipment last Sunday by a man who identified himself as John Lopez.

Police Lieutenant Philip Breitke of the homicide division said a check of a Chicago hotel revealed that a "Mr. and Mrs. John Lopez" checked out Sunday, Sam Hamdian, a handy man there, related he found bloodstains on the mattress after Lopez left and that all the sheets had been removed.

Breitke said he had obtained a photograph of the woman who had lived with Lopez at the hotel and that Hamdian had given a description of her that fitted in most particulars

87 TONS OF BOMBS
HIT PONAPE ISLAND

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEAD-QUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, May
6.—(P)—Seventh army air force
Liberators dropped 87 tons of bombs on Ponape island Thursday, three days after that explosion-battered satellite of Truk had been taken by a protracted battleship shelling. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Army Liberators, making the sixth announced land-based bombing strike on Ponape since February 14, concentrated on Ponape town and dock areas. Many large fires and explosions were observed.

Ponape, 440 miles east of the central Caroline Island bastion of Truk, was heavily hit Monday by carrier bombers and shelled by battleships under command of Vice-Admiral W. A. Loe.

Truk itself, worked over by carrier planes in a two-day attack last weekend, was hit by Army Liberators before dawn Friday. It was the 22nd land-based raid from the central Pacific on the Japanese naval base. Anti-aircraft gun emplacements and coastal batteries were hit by 47 tons of bombs Thursday in a combination army, navy and marine attack on isolated Japanese bases in the Marshall islands.

DR. FREEMAN TO PREACH TODAY

Dr. A. M. Freeman will preach at the First Methodist church this morning at 10:45 o'clock. He was pastor of this church for several years, immediately prior to going to Shreveport to fill the post of Methodist district superintendent, which he now holds. He had a large following of friends here who will, it is expected, throng the church to capacity.

The present campaign to raise cash for an educational building was initiated under his leadership and has grown now until nearly $70,000 in cash has been raised and invested in war bonds.

RABINOF IS TO GIVE CONCERT

Will Be Presented Under Kiwanis Club Sponsorship

An evening of unusual delight is said to be assured for all music lovers who attend the performance of Benno Rabinof, called by many America's greatest violinist. He will appear at the Northeast Junior College Auditorium Wednesday, May 10 at 8:15 p.m. "Spectacular in technique" and "Brilliant in tone" is how he has been described by the press in the leading cities of the country. His coming to Monroe at this time is through the efforts of the Monroe Kiwanis club which is the sponsor of the production which is in the nature of a benefit. Funds that are netted will be placed in the Kiwanis fund for underprivileged children. Many tickets have been sold in advance and the following Kiwanians have been named chairman of committees in connection with the Rabinof appearance: Ticket sales, A. V. Beard; finance, R. C. Todd; publicity, Lester Scharff; auditorium, W. R. Hammond; reception, Page Sialeup. Sylvia Smith, brilliant pianist who will appear with Rabinof, studied in New York under M. Valentine and in Switzerland. She was honored to have been given the chance to appear with Rudolph Serkin, her teacher. She toured the continent after having made her debut in Paris in 1937 and was acclaimed wherever she went for her technique and unusual interpretations. Since her return, critics in New York and other cities where she has graciously appeared have been unusually laudatory over her highly expressive and finished playing. Her talents are numerous—a versatile musician being beside a pianist a lecturer, recitalist, conductor and a composer whose works have been performed over the networks. Recently her set of variations of "Old Black Joe" won first prize from the New York State Women's clubs. Miss Smith possesses a most perfect mechanism—her claving combines perfect ease and power. Of great personal charm, she is endowed with a penetrating musical feeling and a most attractive personality. SHREVEPORT SOPRANO WILL BE PRESENTED Commemorating National Music Week, Mrs. Emma L. Stringfellow, dramatic soprano of Shreveport, with the assistance of Margaret Marshall, pianist, also of Shreveport, will be presented in concert in the St. Matthew's school auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock. RELIGION HAS EMPHASIS WEEK

England Has Services To Stimulate Men In Armed Service

AN EIGHTH A. A. F. FIGHTER STATION, England.—A "Religious Emphasis week," designed to allow men of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths to renew their devotion, has just been concluded at this P-38 Lightning base. During that week five services were conducted daily, two Protestant, two Catholic and one Jewish. Easter and Holy week themes were stressed in the Protestant and Catholic services, while Jewish rites emphasized the Passover. Inaugurated by Chaplain (Captain) William O. Byrd of Monroe, La., the program was backed by the base commander, Colonel Jack S. Jenkins of Levelland, Tex. Colonel Jenkins ordered all unit commanders on the field to release men for one service a day unless their release would interfere with combat flying. During the week 1,230 men attended the services. Most of them attended in their work clothes, having gone directly to worship after leaving their jobs on airplanes. Special speakers included Chaplain Lewis Rabinowitz of the British Eighth army, who spent two and one-half years in Africa; Lieutenant Colonel E. J. Graebner, supervising chaplain for Eighth A. A. F. fighter command; Captain Ellis Beach, chaplain for a fighter wing; Lieutenant R. S. Berg of the United States service of supply; the Rev. H. P. Russell, clergyman from the Church of England, and Father E. Cardiff, O. F. M., Cambridge, England. Also helping Chaplain Byrd with the program were Captain Morton C. Fierman, chaplain at Eighth fighter command headquarters and formerly director of religious education for the

Will Be Presented Under Kiwanis Club Sponsorship

An evening of unusual delight is said to be assured for all music lovers who attend the performance of Benno Rabinof, called by many America's greatest violinist. He will appear at the Northeast Junior College Auditorium Wednesday, May 10 at 8:15 p.m.

"Spectacular in technique" and "Brilliant in tone" is how he has been described by the press in the leading cities of the country.

His coming to Monroe at this time is through the efforts of the Monroe Kiwanis club which is the sponsor of the production which is in the nature of a benefit. Funds that are netted will be placed in the Kiwanis fund for underprivileged children.

Many tickets have been sold in advance and the following Kiwanians have been named chairmen of committees in connection with the Rabinof appearance:

Ticket sales, A. V. Breard; finance, R. C. Todd; publicity, Lester Scharff; auditorium, W. R. Hammond; reception, Page Salcup.

Sylvia Smith, brilliant pianist who will appear with Rabinof, studied in New York under M. Valentine and in Switzerland. She was honored to have been given the chance to appear with Rudolph Serkin, her teacher. She toured the continent after having made her debut in Paris in 1937 and was acclaimed wherever she went for her technique and unusual interpretations.

Since her return, critics in New York and other cities where she has been have been highly expressive and finished playing. Her talents are numerous—a versatile musician being beside a pianist a lecture-recitalist, conductor and a composer whose works have been performed over the networks. Recently her set of variations of "Old Black Joe" won first prize from the New York State Women's clubs.

Miss Smith possesses a most perfect mechanism—her playing combines perfect ease and power. Of great personal charm, she is endowed with a penetrating musical feeling and a most attractive personality.

SHREVEPORT SOPRANO WILL BE PRESENTED

Commemorating National Music Week, Mrs. Emma L. Stringfellow, dramatic soprano of Shreveport, with the assistance of Margaret Marshall, pianist, also of Shreveport, will be presented in concert in the St. Matthew's school auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The concert is open to the public.

IN HOLLYWOOD

Vernon Wood, business manager for Eddie (navy lieutenant) Albert, reports the following amusing note from his client: "Dear Woody: A woman to whom I loaned $500 eighty years ago and whom I had not heard from since then has just paid me. I enclose her check. Woods, don't forget, Woody. Speak to me!"

In the meantime, Ted Hartz and Jimmy DeLoach had arrived after a seven-hour flight from New York, with a group of five associates. Having been alerted to the possibility of a coup attempt, the president and his staff were on the alert. Mr. DeLoach, who had been in the White House since 1969, was a close confidant of the president and had been instrumental in the formation of the Committee to Re-Elect the President (CREEP) in 1972.

Changed Medical Outlook

War's terrific toll of injury and disease has one beneficial by-product. That is a marked improvement in the application of medical science. This improvement, evolved through inevitable and frequent experimentation, begins while war is in progress, but reaches its full fruition in war's aftermath as a response to the vast and onerous burden of rehabilitating hundreds of thousands of sufferers.

This was true after World War I. It will be so emphatically the case when the present conflict is ended as to justify the feeling humankind may be about to enter a new medical era.

Already in this war, for instance, it is authoritatively reported that the period of convalescence of wounded men in the American army has been cut to half the time it formerly consumed. In military hospitals it has been demonstrated that even within that period supervised light exercise by a patient often builds him up to a point where it aids fixed muscles, and typical atrophy is not evident when casts are removed.

And now comes Bernard Baruch, mindful not alone of the post-war need of the armed services, but also of the millions annually of civilian sufferers from physical disabilities, with an endowment of $1,100,000, approved after a survey by the highest medical authorities, for extensive research and teaching in the field of physical medicine. That will involve a greater and more thoroughly responsible knowledge of benefits to be derived from light, heat, water, electricity, exercise and massage.

Eager as physicians will be to employ the benefits of the Baruch endowment and wartime discoveries for the well being of their patients, they rightly look with misgivings at attempts at a federal socialization of their profession.

There seems little likelihood of any such legislation this year or next. Its possibility, however, is clearly on the horizon. It can, of course, be circumvented not only by using the intimate relationship of physician and patient to marshal public sentiment against it, but also through the medical profession's taking stock of its own deficiencies and being able to show itself intent on seeing that there is adequate medical care in uncovered areas, easier access to hospitalization and a better livelihood for young and struggling doctors.

Unfairly, perhaps, but none the less truly, the medical profession seems to be put into position where it must take the initiative. This is more particularly so because the eyes of some national legislators will be on the results of the still further socialization of British medicine that has been approved by the Churchill cabinet.

AMERICA'S TRIUMPH

In a joint statement on the European air situation, the British air ministry and the American air command announce that they are within sight of victory in the skies. The once feared Luftwaffe is tottering on its last legs. The official account of this triumph is interesting.

In mid-summer, 1942, Germany, in view of mounting American bomber strength, decided on two measures. One was to quadruple fighter plane production and the other was to split air factories into small units so that they could not readily be hit. By July, 1943, Germany had doubled its fighter plane production and was well on the way to quadrupling it. British night bombing was unable to prevent it because visibility was needed against the small factory targets.

Then in the last week of July, 1943, the American air force in daylight operations attacked the German airplane industry on six out of seven days. In mid-August a body blow was launched at Regensburg, seat of a large Messerschmitt factory. From that time German fighter production turned downward. Autumn attacks kept it limping steadily lower. Bad weather gave the Germans a respite and by early spring they were able again to show considerable air opposition.

The decisive blow came in the last week in February, 1944, when, in attacks on five out of six successive days America's bombers knocked out 60 per cent of Germany's single engine plane manufacture and more than 80 per cent of the twin engine manufacture. For more than two months Germany has been making fewer planes than it has lost.

This, when European war accounts are balanced, can well be assayed as America's chief triumph. America has clipped Hitler's wings, and in clipping them has made certain his doom.

RETURN OF AN OLD EVIL

The F. B. I. has found it necessary to move in on the growing abuses resulting from the wartime liquor shortage. Both hijacking and black marketing have increased alarmingly. It is none too soon for the federal sleuths to lend their help to the limited facilities of local authorities and the limited authority of the OPA in curbing these evils.

However you may feel about prohibition, this wartime shortage has reiterated the lesson taught us by the 18th amendment. People who want to drink will do so, laws, shortages or high prices notwithstanding. Shortage or absence of legally manufactured and distributed liquor brings an augmented supply through illegal channels. These illegal channels pay rich dividends, and invite criminal competition which will stop at nothing to control them.

Republican Chairman Harrison Spangler has urged political convention fans to stay away from the party's Chicago meeting in June. With travel and hotel accommodations what they are, the request will probably be heeded. With no cheering, booing, whistling bedlam in the packed galleries this year, the distinction between the elephant as the symbol of the G. O. P. and the elephant as the symbol of the circus is going to be painfully apparent.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Stars who have bewailed Hollywood's habitual "type casting" should find plenty of consolation in the experience now being vaunted by movie moguls.

Bing Crosby, after years of light comedy crooning, portrays a Catholic priest in "Going My Way." Fred MacMurray, in "Double Indemnity," enacts a murderer as cold-blooded and reprehensible as the killer impersonated by Charles "Great Lover" Boyer in "Gaslight." Anne Baxter, hitherto "built" as a sweeter-than-honey ingenue, is playing a vicious paranoiac in "Guest in the House." Humphrey Bogart's publicity now stresses his prowess as a screen lover. Dick Powell, always identified with saccharine leads, has been cast as a harder-than-nails detective in "Farewell My Love."

Comedian Jack Carson is being given a chance at "straight" drama; Anne Shirley has traded her mousey makeup for a one-piece bathing suit. Those of the above pictures which have been previewed lend support to the actors' complaints against type casting. The chameleon stars, in each instance, have turned in fine performances and gained enormously in professional stature by proving their versatility.

From the audience viewpoint, the benefits to be gained by junking the old system are obvious. One of the most deadly features of movie-going has always been the boredom certainty that each new picture starring a particular favorite would be a carbon copy of every other picture starring that same player.

So Anna Lee divorced her director-cousin in order to marry the army captain who piloted her on her recent tour of army camps in the Mediterranean area. Not knowing the details in her specific case, I won't be so bold as to attempt comment on the lady's decision (which is none of my business, anyway). But one general observation I will make. A few more incidents like this one, and the husbands of Hollywood glamour girls are going to think twice before they endorse the little woman's yen to make an overseas tour. And, after thinking, say "No."

Browsing through the morning paper, I noted a speech made to the Long Beach, California, Rotary Club by Gene Lockhart. In his peroration, he stated: "Hollywood becomes as modest as a 14-year-old girl when it comes to exploiting its own war work." A few moments later, I laid aside the paper and opened my morning mail. The first thing that caught my attention was a huge envelope from the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. It contained a 47-page booklet, setting forth in gilded detail the movie industry's contributions to the war effort. But I'm not going to be too hasty in challenging Lockhart's statement. After all, I know a lot of 14-year-old girls, and some of them are anything but modest.

Hard-headed showmen at RKO, where Frank Sinatra does his movie crooning, frankly admit that his career is waning and may be washed up in the near future unless he can restrain the caterwauling of his bobby sox fans. They have repeatedly urged him to give the kids an ultimatum—either shut up or stay away from his radio broadcasts, but Frank is so grateful to the adolescents whose adoration made him a star that he hesitates to lay down the law. It seems to me he's carrying gratitude too far. The squealers have been warned, time and again, that they are driving him down the skids. Surely they can't expect him to commit suicide to give them a momentary thrill.

I've frequently criticized stars for attempting to violate their contracts, but there are two sides to every question. Right now, there's a growing tendency on the part of producers to sign young players whom they don't need and then, being flush with profits, keep them under exclusive contract and off the screen on the faint chance that their services "may" be needed at some future date. I don't blame those contractors for rebelling. It's true that they are being paid their stipulated salaries, but the unwritten essence of every contract between a producer and a star—the promise to advance the player's career via actual work—is being violated. The net result for the player is disaster.

Vernon Wood, business manager for Eddie (navy lieutenant) Albert, reports the following amusing note from his client: "Dear Woody: A woman to whom I loaned $300 eight years ago, and from whom I had not heard since then, has just paid me. I enclose her check. Woody, don't faint. Woody! Speak to me!"

By Mrs. Henry McLemore
NEW YORK, N. Y.—A Few More Memories of Past Kentucky Derbys—

Did you ever see a tiny pony, dressed in a red satin suit, sitting upright in an armchair with a lit cigarette and a mint julep on the end table beside him?

Well, I did. Here's how it happened. During Derby Week in Louisville we were one of the elaborate parties that used to be given there. Our host had engaged several of the vaudeville acts from a nearby theater and among them was a cowboy and his trained pony.

After the pony had finished his routine act the cowboy asked him if he'd like to take it easy for awhile and he placed an armchair at the extreme end of the room. The little pony trotted over and sat bolt upright as a person would, with his hoofs on the arms of the chair. Then the cowboy placed a lit cigarette and a mint julep beside the pony and the whole effect was very funny.

In the meantime Ted Husing and Jimmy Dolan had arrived after a merry train trip from New York with a group of their friends. Having been invited to the party they came up in the elevator and then turned sharply to the left to go down the long hotel corridor. At the end of the corridor, where they knew that the party was being held, they saw through the open door into one creature—small pony in a red satin suit evidently having himself a very fine time.

They stared and clutched each other. "Do you see what I see?" Ted asked Jimmy. "No," Jimmy answered, "because I see a small horse in a red satin suit sitting in an armchair having a mint julep and a cigarette."

THE AMERICAN SCENE

By I. C. BRENNER

MENTION DETROIT to someone and you'll inevitably begin talking about automobiles. Pittsburgh suggests steel—but tell a friend you've been to New Orleans and you'll immediately be asked about cooking. And there's a good reason for that. New Orleans cuisine has been famous for generations.

I may have some other reason for coming back to New Orleans, but I always manage to find out if the cooking situation is still under control. You can take my word for it; it is. Despite the many restrictions and scarcities imposed on the city's chefs by the war, there has been very little change in cooking in general. Housewives, of course, do not use as much butter as they once did and the big restaurants have meatless days and close one day a week, but the general run of cooking is just what you've been told it is—something to make your mouth water.

For many years the Creole cuisine of New Orleans has had an international reputation which is justly deserved. I'm not kitchen artist, but I don't have to be an expert to know that the shrimp "Cremé" Arnaud served with a mustard sauce is almost too good to be true; or that the famous Oysters Rockefeller and pompano papillote Roy Alciatore provided at Antoine's are out of this world; or that the eggs Benedict at St. Denis, at Galatoire's, are epic. No one has to tell me this, I know it.

The war has curtailed the supply of seasonings and spices used in many of the more elaborate concoctions featured in the Creole cuisine, and you no longer find filet mignon, enhanced by subtle decorations, as often as you used to, but, by and large, the program remains the same. Especially is this true in the realm of seafood.

There are some misconceptions about Creole cooking that I might do well to clarify. In the first place, all Creole dishes are not elaborate and expensive and out of this world. It is the genius

"Thank heaven," Ted said, "because that's exactly what I see. Maybe we'd better trade glasses and have another look."

They did and after being convinced that two pairs of glasses are better than one, they joined us and told of their fears of a few minutes before.

The Don Amehes always gave lovely supper parties during Derby Week. The only trouble that Honey Ameh had was that she would try to pin Don down in the morning before we all went to the races as to just how many guests she could plan on for supper in their hotel apartment that evening so that she could arrange things before she left. Don would give her a fixed number and she told me just for good measure she always doubled his estimate but unfortunately that seldom worked. Don would appear with three times the number of people he had promised her would be the limit.

"So," Honey said, "I would start ordering food for three times as many people as Don said he'd invited. Then what would happen? He'd end up with exactly the number of people he told me he'd invite in the first place and all that lovely food would go to waste."

As far as I'm concerned, Honey Ameh isn't the only woman who has been through that. Is she? Oh, the times, the times that I have made a dinner for two stretch to a dinner for four. Again, I have tried to save food already cooked for eight because the "boys" decided to stay on and eat at the golf club.

Golly, I wish those days were back again.

of the true Creole chef that he can prepare a broiled fish just as perfectly as he can compound the most involved recipes; that he can make a plain omelet as delicious as eggs St. Denis, which back under a delicious canopy of chopped mushrooms and other things still regarded as a culinary secret.

The Creole chef is also someone who can work wonders with leftovers. The often-praised crab gumbo, for instance, is frequently the result of discovering in an icebox some likely looking bits of ham, some tomatoes, a few pieces of okra and other condiments not expensive enough to be employed alone, but excellent when combined. The gumbo can be, of course, the result of a wish to have gumbo. It can be a meal in itself and frequently is—its steaming deliciousness topped off with a heaping helping of white, fluffy rice. This will never do. If I keep this up I'll have to go out and get some. The crabs and shrimp are especially good right now, too. Hmmm—that's exactly what I'll do. I'll go down to Arnaud's and get some gumbo, then I'll walk down to the French market by the river and have some black coffee while I sit at a table of the sidewalk cafe and enjoy the afternoon sunshine.

Well, goodbye—now I gotta be going. Wish you were here with me. As long as there is New Orleans there will be gumbo, however, and if you can't make it this time, maybe the next time I come back you'll be around and we can make a meal together. With some French bread, too. You know—the kind that has a thick, little crust and is twisted into a long pointed loaf. It's served piping hot. This is too much. I must go. Can't stand it. So long. I must go. Released by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(Monroe Morning World Washington Correspondent)

Black market operations in textiles and clothing, infecting every branch of the industries, are today giving CPA one of its greatest enforcement problems, and are providing one of the worst threats to stabilization of the cost of living.

Extent of the black market operations is impossible to determine accurately, but some leaders in the industry admit openly that violations are substantial and that there are few houses where, but all price increases resulting from these practices are ultimately passed on to and paid for by the consumer.

Triple Damage Penalties
Within the next few months, the enforcement division of CPA hopes that it will be possible to break up these practices by the institution of a number of criminal actions to recover triple damages, as provided for in the present price control law and regulations, as well as through settlements out of court.

At the beginning of the year, the textile and apparel sections of CPA's enforcement division did not have enough personnel to tackle this problem. Today it has some 200 investigators making spot checks on the industry centers in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and the West Coast. Much of the activity is in New York.

To date, about a dozen big triple damage actions have been filed by CPA attorneys—one in St. Paul, Minn., two in New York, five in Chicago and four in St. Louis. From now on, it is expected that a number of new actions will be filed each week.

On the West Coast, most of the cases have been settled out of court, with the recovery by the government of damages from $500 to $50,000. Settlements out of court in the east have included two cases for $35,000 and $30,000 in Baltimore, one for $40,000 in New York and one for $24,000 in Philadelphia. The triple damages recovered are, in each case, three times the amount of the over-charge.

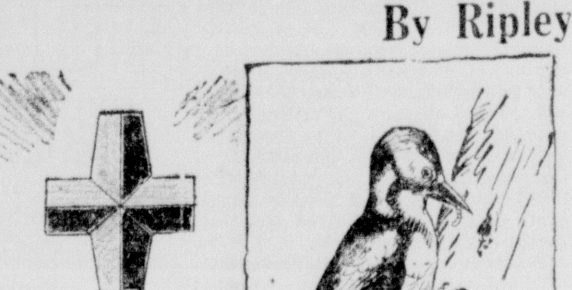

Monumental Task
The size of the job of checking the industry is almost beyond comprehension. There are some 6000 women's clothing manufacturers alone. When Textile mills, converters, makers of accessories, children's and men's wear and shoes are included, the number of manufacturers will run to 20,000, the number of wholesalers and retailers to perhaps 120,000.

Enforcement of existing orders, even if 100 per cent compliance could be secured, is not considered the only step necessary to stop the textile and apparel black market. These and related industries are admittedly under extreme pressures due to war production requirements, restrictions on civilian production and higher operating costs.

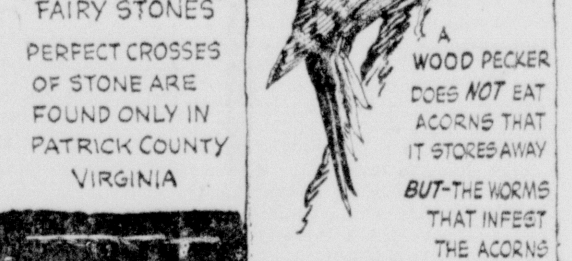

No Blanket Indictment
Many of these practices of the black market are not illegal nor outside the provisions of the existing regulations. To give an impression that all textile and apparel manufacturers and distributors are crooks and that the whole industry needs indictment would be completely false.

The War Production Board is now studying revision of its directives on textile production and clothing manufacture, and this is regarded as necessary by the industry. Another source of worry to the manufacturers is the Vinson profit-limitation directive of last November.

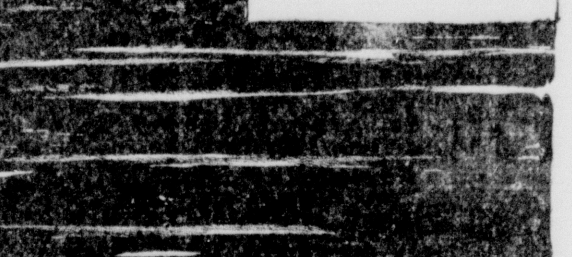

While reduction of supply of lower priced lines of clothing is the end result of the black market operations

ITALIAN UNITS TO AID ALLIES

Volunteer Groups Will Be Formed From Prisoners Of War

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Creation of volunteer non-combat units from among Italian prisoners of war, under the command of American officers, was announced today by the War Department.

The units, the department said in a statement, "will render services of various kinds in support of the war effort against the common enemy, except in actual combat."

Parallel arrangements are being made, "insofar as practicable, by the government of the United Kingdom," the department announced.

The army said that the action was in furtherance of Italian co-belligerent efforts.

While the units will be under the tactical command of American officers and subject to American military law and regulations, they will be staffed by Italian officers and non-commissioned officers and "will extend liberties and privileges heretofore available to them."

The department said the arrangement is expected to release thousands of American soldiers for other duty.

These Italian volunteers must be approved by the military intelligence section of the army.

Their training will stress instruction in the English language. The present limitation against fraternization with prisoners will not apply between members of the Italian service units and American military personnel.

The members of the Italian units will wear easily recognizable uniforms. They will continue to be paid the present rates of pay. However, a portion of this will be paid in cash and the remainder in post exchange coupons instead of the entire sum being paid in coupons as at present. The amount not paid in cash may be credited to the individual's account with the treasury of the United States for the duration.

As of April 1, this year, there were 15,000 Italian prisoners of war in this country, the War Department said. The service units are not expected to reach that total, however.

It was announced today that the ship was "purchased" by the navy and employed during the war in the drive through the submarine zone.

The name "Stingaree" is a slang term for a shark, and the ship is to be named after the creature.

TELETYPE GIRLS ARE REQUIRED

Western Union Will Pay Young Women While Learning

Western Union Telegraph company, announces that because of changing conditions and the war, that his company will be able to place many young women in positions after they have taken a short preliminary training course.

Young women, aged 18 to 30 years, who have a high school education, and have had a year's typing experience, are eligible.

The course of instruction will be given at the company's school of instruction at Springfield, Mo., where they can be instructed at a time.

The course requires but seven weeks' time, and young women are paid while they are learning. When the course is completed, the students will be placed in immediate positions and the work is such as to be regarded as defense projects.

Mr. Dawson stated: When placed in positions, they will be well paid, he assures, and work is hard and pleasant.

Formerly with the old Morse code, it took a long time to learn to read and write messages. Now with the modern teletype, much of this tedious work is being done by the modern teletype system is much preferable.

Mr. Dawson will be glad to discuss further details of the course and the prospect of employment that it offers. He may be seen at the Western Union office in Monroe.

SUB SURVIVORS IN NEW ORLEANS

Tell How Merchant Ship Shot Three Times Remained Afloat

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(AP)—Sixteen survivors of an American merchantman which absorbed the "wallops" of three Nazi torpedoes recently in the Mediterranean, and remained afloat, reported in at the armed guard center here today.

Boatswain's Mate Second Class Ross W. Tarantino, of Benton Harbor, Mich., spokesman for the group, said "we took three torpedoes—one at 9:45 a. m., and the other two right together at about 2 p. m. They missed up the ship plenty, but she still stayed afloat—she was a real ship."

Tarantino told how his armed guard gunnery officer, Ensign Melvin Schindewolf, U. S. N. R., of 2631 Fillmore street, Minneapolis—who cannot swim—took off his own lifejacket, put it on an injured seaman, then leaped into the sea and clung to Tarantino's lifejacket to remain afloat.

"I was in my bunk when the first fish snatched us," the 18-year-old boatswain's mate said. "There was a heck of a blast and I was thrown out of the bunk. It felt as if the ship was blown clear into the air."

"Dashing for my gun station, I was joined by the other armed guard and we stood by for about 20 minutes, hoping the ship would come up and we'd get a crack at her."

The gunners abandoned ship about a half hour after the torpedoing. Two hours later, when it appeared that the ship would remain afloat, they returned aboard.

"We had some snow, but most of us were too nervous to eat," Tarantino said. "We knew darned well that the ship would hit us again while we lay there, so our appetites could have been better."

The second and third torpedoes hit in the early afternoon, while the crew prepared tow lines for hauling the blasted vessel into a port.

"I was right over the plane and the fish hit," Seaman First Class Joseph S. Strelzyk, of Ames, Ill., said. "I remember a terrific roar and flash, then found myself under water. I thought I was trapped under the ship for some reason, and passed out while I was struggling."

"When I came to I was on the surface, and the ship—you may not believe this—was 200 yards away."

The others asserted that the American was actually blown 200 yards by the torpedo, as they saw him and there immediately after the explosion.

"One of those things had enough power to do darn near anything," Strelzyk agreed. Strelzyk was not injured.

Last to leave the battered ship was Ensign Schindewolf and Tarantino.

"We were on the way off to port when Ensign Schindewolf found an injured man lying unconscious on the deck," the boatswain's mate said.

"He didn't hesitate a second—just quietly took off his lifejacket and put it on the man. Then he picked him up, carried him to the rail and dropped him overboard. Then, when he got ready to jump, Mr. Schindewolf, he couldn't swim. We jumped together and both of us stuck up all right by hanging to my jacket."

ITALIAN UNITS TO AID ALLIES

Volunteer Groups Will Be Formed From Prisoners Of War

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—Creation of volunteer non-combat units from among Italian prisoners of war, under the command of American officers, was announced today by the War Department.

The units, the department said in a statement, "will render services of various kinds in support of the war effort against the common enemy, except in actual combat."

Parallel arrangements are being made, "insofar as practicable, by the government of the United Kingdom," the department announced.

The army said that the action was a furtherance of Italian co-belligerent efforts.

While the units will be under the ultimate command of American officers and subject to American military law and regulations, they will be staffed by Italian officers and commissioned officers and "will be extended liberties and privileges heretofore available to them."

The department said the arrangement is expected to release thousands of American soldiers for other duty.

Those Italians who volunteer must be approved by the military intelligence section of the army.

Brigadier General John M. Eager, senior chief of staff, fifth service command at Columbus, Ohio, has been named commanding general of the units.

Their training will stress instruction in the English language. The present prohibition against fraternization with prisoners will not apply between members of the Italian service units and American military personnel.

The members of the Italian units will wear easily recognizable uniforms. They will continue to be paid the present rates of pay. However, a portion of this will be paid in cash and the remainder in post exchange coupons instead of the entire sum being paid in coupons as at present. The amount not paid in cash may be credited to the individual's account with the treasury of the United States when he desires.

As of April 1, this year, there were 136 Italian prisoners of war in this country, the War Department said. The service units are not expected to reach that total, however.

TELETYPE GIRLS ARE REQUIRED

Western Union Will Pay Young Women While Learning

E. R. Dawson, manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, announces that because of changing conditions and the war, that his company will be able to place many young women in positions after they have taken a short preliminary training course.

Young women, ages 17 to 30 years, who have a high school education, and have had a year's typing experience, are eligible.

The course of instruction will be given at the company's school of instruction at Springfield, Mo., where 100 can be instructed at a time. The course requires, but seven weeks time, and young women are paid while they are learning. When the course is completed, the students will be placed in immediate positions and the work is such as to be regarded as defense projects, Mr. Dawson stated. When placed in positions, they will be well paid, he assures, and work is light and pleasant.

Formerly with the old Morse code, it took a long time to learn to send and receive messages. Now with the modern teletype, much of this hardship is done away with and the modern system is much preferable.

Mr. Dawson will be glad to discuss further details of the course and the prospect for employment that it offers. He may be seen at the Western Union office in Monroe.

SUB SURVIVORS IN NEW ORLEANS

Tell How Merchant Ship Shot Three Times Remained Afloat

NEW ORLEANS, May 6.—(P)—Sixteen survivors of an American merchant ship, which absorbed the "wall-to-walls" of three Nazi torpedoes recently in the Mediterranean, and remained afloat, reported in at the armed guard center here today.

Boatwain's Mate Second Class Ross William Tarantino, of Benton Harbor, Mich., spokesman for the group, said "we took three torpedoes—one at 9:45 a. m. and the other two right together at about 2 p. m. They missed up the ship plenty, but she still stayed afloat—she was a real ship."

Tarantino told how his armed guard gunnery officer, Ensign Melvin Schade, U. S. N. R., of 2631 Filmore street, Minneapolis—Who cannot swim—took off his own lifejacket, put it on an injured seaman, then leaped into the sea and clung to Tarantino's lifejacket to remain afloat.

"I was in my bunk when the first fish snacked us," the 18-year-old boatwain's mate said. "There was a heck of a blast and I was thrown out of the bunk. It felt as if the ship was blown clear into the air."

"Dashing for my gun station, I was joined by the other armed guard boys and we stood by for about 20 minutes, hoping the sub would come up and we'd get a crack at her."

The gunners abandoned ship about a half hour after the torpedoing. Two hours later, when it appeared that the ship would remain afloat, they returned aboard.

"We had some chow, but most of us were too nervous to eat," Tarantino said. "We know darned well that the sub would hit us again while we lay there, so our appetites could have been better."

The second and third torpedoes hit in the early afternoon, while the crew prepared tow lines for hauling the blasted vessel into a port.

"I was right over the plane one of the fish hit," Seaman First Class Joseph S. Strzelczyk of Argo, Ill., said. "I remember a terrific roar and flash, then found myself under water. I thought I was trapped under the ship for some reason, and passed out while I was struggling."

"When I came to I was on the surface, and the ship—you may not believe this—was 200 yards away."

The others insisted that the Argo man was actually blown 200 yards by the torpedo, as they saw him out there immediately after the explosion. "One of those things had enough power to do darn near anything," they agreed. Strzelczyk was not injured.

Last to leave the battered ship were Ensign Schade and Tarantino. "We were on the way aft to jump when Ensign Schade fell unconscious on the deck," the boatwain's mate said.

"He didn't hesitate a second—just quietly took off his lifejacket and put it on the man. Then he picked him up, carried him to the rail, and dropped him upside down. Then, when we got ready to jump, Mr. Schade admitted he couldn't swim. We jumped together and both of us stayed up all right by hanging to my jacket."

Survivors, who left on leaves after reporting here, include:

PRIEST IS AGAIN STALIN VISITOR

Orlemanski Asserts Russian Premier Friendly To Church

MOSCOW, May 6.—(P)—The Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Polish-American priest concluding a 12-day visit to Russia, declared today after a second audience with Premier Joseph Stalin that the Soviet leader is "very friendly disposed towards the Roman Catholic church" and that "the religion of our forefathers shall be the religion of the Polish people."

In a formal statement issued as he departed for the United States, Father Orlemanski significantly said that "future events will prove" Stalin's "friendliness toward the Catholic church." The priest described his own prediction as "historic," but gave no hint as to what he thought the actual events might be.

The American, whose trip here has aroused criticism in the United States, declared also that Stalin "really wants a strong, independent democratic Poland," and that "he has no intention of meddling in the internal affairs of Poland."

Apparently highly satisfied with his trip, Father Orlemanski praised the Russians as "a wonderful people" and Stalin and Foreign Commissar Molotov as "great men." He conferred with the two leaders at the Kremlin for two hours Thursday and said "the results were beyond my expectation." His first visit with Stalin was April 28.

The priest himself appeared to consider the assurances regarding Stalin's attitude toward the Catholic church as the most important outcome of the second meeting, and he cited as evidence of this attitude the fact that five priests were serving as chaplains at the headquarters of the Polish army at Sumy, which he visited.

Informed that an American congressman, Representative Lesinski, Democrat, Michigan, had referred to him as a traitor to the church and the principles of Americanism, Father Orlemanski shrugged his shoulders in an attitude of indifference. "I wonder what the Polish people are saying about me," he remarked.

Father Orlemanski addressed the people of Poland in Polish over the Moscow radio yesterday as "fellow countrymen." Giving assurance of Stalin's attitude toward the future of Poland, the priest said his own aim was to help Polish workers "to keep pace with the times."

LEND SUM ASKED

Roosevelt Wants To Raise
Total For Lease To
$28,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—A $3,450,570,000 new appropriation for lend-lease was asked by President Roosevelt today together with reappropriation of unspent funds to make $7,188,893,000 available in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The amount would raise to about $28,000,000,000 the total for lend-lease since the program was started.

The new fund was asked for "industrial products required for the production of planes, tanks, guns and other war supplies in Allied countries, food and other agricultural products required to maintain the rations of their soldiers and war workers, and related services."

Military and naval supplies sent directly to America's allies are drawn from the accounts of the war and navy departments.

The request arrived at a time when new demands were being voiced at the Capitol for more information on lend-lease operations.

Senator Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, said "Congress and the people are entitled to more facts than they have been given about the extent and nature of lend-lease aid to us."

Asking establishment now of a national policy with respect to final lend-lease settlements, Ellender said "Unless we do, we may find ourselves owing our allies at the end of the war instead of their owing us."

He noted that a recent report said the United States had extended $21,794,237,819 worth of lend-lease aid up to March 15, and had received $2,129,151,000 worth of reverse lend-lease.

In addition to the direct appropriation for lend-lease, Mr. Roosevelt asked: $4,209,000 for expenses of the treasury and agriculture departments for procurement of lend-lease supplies and services.

Authority to use $58,299,000 received as a result of lend-lease operations, it was explained, that money was received chiefly from foreign governments in payment of lend-lease aid or from sale of reverse lend-lease commodities. It is in addition to the more doubt impede their pursuit of the foe into Burma through sodden jungle tracks. But such of the estimated three-division army as makes its escape to the Irrawaddy can be in no shape to cope with the Allied forces pioneering the Leda supply route to its junction with the Old Burma road to China.

Japanese leadership gambled heavily on that "invasion" thrust across the Upper Chindwin river in Burma into India; and it has lost. Planted before the wet monsoon struck astride the long and difficult supply routes in India beyond their Imperial plan upon which Stilwell's forces depend, it might have held up for months the promised increased flow of Allied munitions and battle equipment including expanded air power for China.

The race with the monsoon has been lost end with it the bulk of the Japanese army in northern Burma as an effective fighting force. It no longer looms as a major factor that could prevent a short-line linking up of India and China by air and ground alike. That is a deadly menace to Japanese armies in China, even to the industrial heart of Japan itself once bomber bases and the supplies to operate them intensively are available in central or eastern China.

That seems to be the fear haunting Tokyo's war lords. It accounts for the reckless and futile Indian "invasion" attempt from Burma and also for the power attack in China features as yet by the effort to link up a north-south line from Peiping to Hankow and perhaps to Canton. Japanese success could increase the distance to be traveled by bombers and thus reduce the weight of inevitable Allied air attack from China.

To accomplish that the back-fired and soon to be monsoon washed out campaign westward in northern Burma was ordered. It was a reckless and losing gamble at least in Allied judgment. Its failure has definitely improved Stilwell's prospects of completing the Leda connections with China months ahead of schedule.

Secretary Stimson at Washington implied that during the week, had the Japanese army in Upper Burma been concentrated northward against Stilwell's forces, he said, instead of on the collapsed invasion of India, Stilwell's problems would have been materially increased. With Allies and Japanese alike engaged in supply cutting forays, he added, "the pay-off to the victor should be large." Nor was there any doubt in his mind who the victor would be.

Stilwell's operations have never paused. He is close to his primary immediate objective, Myitkyna, and there is no longer any formidable Japanese reserve force in northwestern Burma where the monsoon rains are light by comparison and not apt to stall his continued advance.

If lend-lease to cut New York City's bus, subway and trolley lines would extend from that city to Cleveland, O.

The Capitol veterans predict a repetition of one unanimous slight of previous sessions—that the first act of several legislators will be to obtain a letter of identification to banks so they begin drawing against their $20 daily salaries, usually paid every 20 days.

For the remainder of the session, order of house business is also established by precedent.

For the morning meeting it calls for roll call, review of journals, presentation of petitions, memorials and resolutions, reports of committees, introduction of bills, messages, communications and resolutions on the table, and committee

"Regular order of the day," then, calls for, in order, "unfinished business, house bills amended by the senate to be concurred in by the house, senate bills on second reading to be referred to committees, senate bills on first reading, house bills on second reading reported by committees, house bills on third reading, senate bills on second reading reported from legislative bureau, senate bills on third reading, and announcements."

The governor urged the editors to help make the south a land of equal opportunity.

Jones said that the parents of four million children in the south own two per cent of the national income, whereas the parents of eight million children in the east own 42 per cent.

"Is this a land of equal opportunity for our children where parents in another area own 21 times as much as the parents of children living in the south?"

Jones introduced Governor-Elect Davis, who will succeed him at inauguration ceremonies Tuesday, May 8, and asked for "cooperation and assistance" during the period Davis' tenure as governor.

Davis told newspapermen that there are certain things in common more important than the government's principles, that the state shall achieve harmony in all its political actions during wartime in order that Louisiana may contribute fully to the war effort.

This morning's pre-election program included an address by Albert S. Hay, Governor-Elect, to the members of the National Defense Association, a round table conference with Nathan Bolton, chairman, discussing advertising problems, and a special session of the National Board of Public Relations, which will meet at the Louisiana State Capitol building.

The convention delegates, at the close of their business at the New Orleans parish courthouse, went to the Louisiana State Capitol building for an outdoor barbecue and refreshments, which were served at 4 o'clock. An informal dance at the large camp on the park grounds of a town concluded the convention program.

His son, Devadas Gandhi, expressing the opinion that his father was seriously ill and possibly near death, said that Gandhi would scorn most medical ministrations.

Released with Gandhi were Dr. M. D. D. Gilder, who attended the leader in detention; Miss Madeline Slade, the daughter of an English admiral and supporter of the Indian national congress for many years; Dr. Sushila Nayad, and Pyare Lal Nayyar, a private secretary.

Gandhi's release came without outward demonstration by his followers, but crowds of them acting on an earlier announcement that their leader would be freed, gathered at the gates of the palace to greet him. He looked cheerful but tired and was taken immediately to "Parnakuti," palatial residence of Lady Vitall D. Thackersey. She is the widow of a Bombay merchant and an old friend of Gandhi. It was understood Gandhi would be taken to Bombay Monday.

Gandhi and those released with him were enjoined against making any public statements or giving any interviews.

PEOPLE PLEASED AT
FREEING OF GANDHI

NEW DELHI, India, May 6.—(P)—Widespread satisfaction greeted the release today of Mohandas K. Gandhi, Indian nationalist leader detained for 21 months as a political prisoner in the Aga Khan's summer palace in Poona, but intimates feared it marked a new crisis in the illness of the frail disciple of India's masses.

The press of all shades of opinion, nationalist as well as English-owned, welcomed the freeing of Gandhi. The government released the 74-year-old leader unconditionally, citing failing health, after having confined him in August, 1942, for political activity which it regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan.

be possible to lift blacklist sanctions as soon as the war ends.

In the case of Ireland, there has been no complaint of trading with the enemy and the British and United States governments have concentrated on trying, first to eradicate and second to control the activities of Axis diplomats whom they accused of staying on in Ireland and preparing for the invasion of Europe.

The United States asked Ireland February 21 to eject Axis authorities from the country, but it turned down the request. Shortly afterwar Britain cut off all shipping to Ireland and imposed other restrictions designed to prevent the flow of information and military assets of the United Kingdom into Europe.

The crackdown on Irish trade was considered here to be a necessary application of the blacklist policy from New York on to countries in neutral Europe, countries which did not align themselves with Axis or Allied troops.

The officer said Hamilton identified the woman as Louise Villegas, 21 years old, five feet three inches tall and weight about 156 pounds.

This description differed from that of the trunk victim only in that the body found in California weighed 130 pounds.

The Chicago officers did not disclose the name of the missing woman. They said she weighed 156 pounds, according to the description, while the dead woman here weighed about 135 pounds.

Dr. Frank Webb, county autopsy surgeon, announced today that a partial examination of the body disclosed that the victim did not die of a bullet or stab wound, nor was there any indication that an abortion had caused her death.

He said investigators will make a chemical examination to determine whether she might have been killed by poison or strangulation. He said this would require several days.

The body, packed in salt, was discovered at a railway express agency office in a trunk shipped here from Chicago by a man who gave the name of John Lopez as sender and consignee.

Roosevelt Wants To Raise Total For Lease To $28,000,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—A $3,450,570,000 new appropriation for lend-lease was asked by President Roosevelt today together with reappropriation of unspent funds to make $7,188,893,000 available in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The amount would raise to about $28,000,000,000 the total for lend-lease since the program was started.

The new fund was asked for "industrial products required for the production of planes, tanks, guns and other war supplies in Allied countries, food and other agricultural products required to maintain the rations of their soldiers and war workers, and related services."

Military and naval supplies sent directly to America's allies are drawn from the accounts of the war and navy departments.

The request arrived at a time when new demands were being voiced at the Capitol for more information on lend-lease operations.

Senator Ellender, Democrat, Louisiana, said "Congress and the people are entitled to more facts than they have been given about the extent and nature of reverse aid to us."

Asking establishment now of a national policy with respect to final lend-lease settlements, Ellender said: "Unless we do, we may find ourselves owing our allies at the end of the war instead of their owing us."

He noted that a recent report said the United States had extended $21,794,237,819 worth of lend-lease aid up to March 15, and had received $2,129,431,000 worth of reverse lend-lease.

In addition to the direct appropriation for lend-lease, Mr. Roosevelt asked:

$4,209,000 for expenses of the treasury and agriculture departments for procurement of lend-lease supplies and services.

Authority to use $88,299,000 received as a result of lend-lease operations.

It was explained that this money was received chiefly from foreign governments in payment of lend-lease aid or from sale of reverse lend-lease commodities. It is in addition to the more doubt impede their pursuit of the foe into Burma through sodden jungle tracks. But such of the estimated three-division army as makes its escape to the Irrawaddy can be in no shape to cope with the Allied forces pioneering the Ledo supply route to its junction with the Old Burma road to China.

Japanese leadership gambled heavily on that "invasion" thrust across the Upper Chindwin river in Burma into India; and it has lost. Planned before the very monsoon struck astride the long and difficult supply routes in India beyond their Imperial plan upon which Stilwell's forces depend, it might have held up for months the promised increased flow of Allied munitions and battle equipment including expanded air power for China.

The race with the monsoon has been lost and with it the bulk of the Japanese army in northern Burma as an effective fighting force. It no longer looms as a major factor that could prevent a short-line linking up of India and China by air and ground alike. That is a deadly menace to Japanese armies in China, even to the industrial heart of Japan itself once bomber bases and the supplies to operate them intensively are available in central or eastern China.

That seems to be the fear haunting Tokyo's war lords. It accounts for the reckless and futile Indian "invasion" attempt from Burma and also for the power attack in China features as yet by the effort to link up a north-south line from Peiping to Hankow and perhaps to Canton. Japanese success could increase the distance to be traveled by bombers and thus reduce the weight of inevitable Allied air attack from China.

To accomplish that the back-fired and soon to be monsoon washed out campaign westward in northern Burma was ordered. It was a reckless and losing gamble at least in Allied judgment. Its failure has definitely improved Stilwell's prospects of completing the Ledo connections with China months ahead of schedule.

Secretary Stimson at Washington implied that during the week, had the Japanese army in Upper Burma been concentrated northward against Stilwell's forces, he said, instead of on the collapsed invasion of India, Stilwell's problems would have been materially increased. With Allies and Japanese alike engaged in supply cutting forays, he added, "the pay-off to the victor should be large." Nor was there any doubt in his mind who the victor would be.

Stilwell's operations have never paused. He is close to this primary immediate objective, Myitkyna, and there is no longer any formidable Japanese reserve force in northwestern Burma where the monsoon rains are light by comparison and not apt to stall his continued advance.

If laid end to end, New York City's bus, subway and trolley lines would extend from that city to Cleveland, O.

MAY PLACE BABIES UNDER U. S. CARE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 6.—(P)—Wives of service men stationed in Louisiana may place their new-born babies under Uncle Sam's medical care even though they do not participate in the government's maternity program when the babies are born.

According to information received here from the children's bureau of the United States department of labor, the program was designed to be of benefit both to expectant wives of service men and to their infants up to one year of age. However, it was explained, the program is flexible enough to apply only to infant care should the wives fail to receive the program's benefits.

The program in Louisiana is being administered by the Louisiana health department.

Jones pointed out that when he leaves office he will be the only living ex-governor of Louisiana who has served a full four-year term.

He said that "the next governor goes into office under the most favorable circumstances. He has the support of a greater per cent of the people than any other governor in recent years."

Jones turned to Davis, sitting with him at the banquet table, and said, "I'll advise you now that the important people won't be the ones who will come to your office in Baton Rouge, seeking jobs or with axes to grind. The important people are folks all over the state who want you to carry out the things you told them you would do. Watch carefully, or you will yield to those callers at your office, who constitute only 5 per cent of your people."

The governor urged the editors to help make the south a land of equal opportunity.

Jones introduced Governor-Elect Davis, who will succeed him at inauguration ceremonies Tuesday, May 8, and asked for "cooperation and assistance" during the pending Davis regime as governor.

Davis told newspapermen that there are certain things he considers more important than the governorship, principally that the state shall achieve harmony in all its political factions during wartime in order that Louisiana may contribute fully to the war effort.

This morning's pre-election program included an address by Albert S. Hardy, Gainesville, Ga., president of the National Editorial Association; a round table conference with Nathan Bolton, chairman, discussing advertising problems; Mrs. Spiva talking on special editions; A. B. Reed, Opelousas, discussing war bond advertising; Max Thomas, New Iberia, talking on local rate structures; and Bruce R. McCoy, central office manager of LPA, Baton Rouge, talking on advertising service.

The convention delegates, at the close of their business at the Morehouse parish courthouse, went to Chemin-Haut State park near here for an outing barbecue and refreshments were served at 4 o'clock. An informal dance at the lodge room on the park grounds at 8 p.m. concluded the convention program.

He complimented both industry and labor on accomplishing a "grand job" in meeting war production schedules, but warned that industrial troubles, particularly unemployment, may come with victory.

"The return of war workers to civilian production and the return of the veterans to civilian life is a simple phrase and an easily identified period in the manpower situation," he said. "It will present, however, more serious problems, a more serious challenge and a more difficult job than mobilization."

PEOPLE PLEASED AT FREEING OF GANDHI

NEW DELHI, India, May 6.—(P)—Widespread satisfaction greeted the release today of Mohandas K. Gandhi, Indian nationalist leader detained for 21 months as a political prisoner in the Aga Khan's summer palace in Poona, but intimates feared it marked a new crisis in the illness of the trail disciple of India's masses.

The press of all shades of opinion, nationalist as well as English-owned, welcomed the freeing of Gandhi. The government released the 74-year-old leader unconditionally, citing failing health, after having confined him in August, 1942, for political activity which it regarded as hampering India's resistance to Japan.

His intimates here said that Gandhi is suffering from both high blood pressure and a kidney ailment and will depend for recovery on a spiritual source of strength "beyond the conception of the western world." His son, Devadas Gandhi, expressing the opinion that his father was seriously ill and possibly near death, said that Gandhi would scorn most medical ministrations.

Released with Gandhi were Dr. M. D. D. Gilder, who attended the leader in detention; Miss Madeline Slade, the daughter of an English admiral and supporter of the Indian national congress for many years; Dr. Sushila Nayad, and Pyare Lal Nayyar, a private secretary.

Gandhi's release came without outward demonstration by his followers, but crowds of them acting on an earlier announcement that their leader would be freed, gathered at the gates of the place of great him. He looked cheerful but tired and was taken immediately to "Parnakuti," palatial residence of Lady Vitthal Das Thackersey. She is the widow of a Bombay merchant and an old friend of Gandhi. It was understood Gandhi would be taken to Bombay Monday.

Gandhi and those released with him were enjoined against making any public statements or giving any interviews.

WORLD EMPIRE IS HIS VISION

Hawthorne Daniel To Address
Town Hall On Tuesday Night

Hawthorne Daniel, author of "North America: Wheel of the Future," "The Islands of the Pacific," and other books, will be the guest speaker at Monroe Town Hall, in the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium, Tuesday, May 9 at 8:15 p.m. His theme will be: "World Empire of the Next 100 Years." The lecture is for members only.

It was while serving as an officer in the United States navy during World War I that Mr. Daniel began to foresee a gradual move of Great Britain's strategic industries into Canada. For over twenty years, he has been studying this development. While he was editor of "The Commentator" he interviewed many leading citizens of the United States, Britain and Canada on it, and published many articles on this tremendous shift of world power.

The effect of the migration of Britain's wealth and power to the North American continent is of tremendous importance to the United States. Already Canada is the world's fifth trading nation. It was the best customer the United States had even before the outbreak of the war. No other results of World War II are likely to be so important to the United States generally as the effect of this transfer of British banking and business to the North American continent.

Mr. Daniel believes that this development is a wholesome one and that it will tend to stabilize the world in future generations and will tend to improve American business. In any case, the shift of world responsibility to North America is one that cannot be stopped. Willy-nilly, the United States must assume a much larger voice in international affairs than before the present war began. America's tremendous part in the present war, of course, hastens this development immeasurably.

His four lectures on various phases of this question are entitled, "The New Anglo-American Empire of the Pacific," "Britain Moves to Canada and What it Means to American Business," "The Westward Course of Empire," and "Uncle Sam Returns to the Seven Seas."

Mr. Daniel speaks clearly, naturally and straight to the point. He has been guest speaker at a large number of Associated Clubs, with which the local club is affiliated, during the past year as well as many other outstanding organizations throughout the country.

He has repeatedly been called to give his opinions before committees of the senate and house of representatives in Washington and is quoted far and wide on many matters.

The dome of the Pennsylvania state capitol in Harrisburg is modeled after St. Peter's in Rome.

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, May 6.—(AP)—Pensive, the horse that almost didn't get to come to the Kentucky Derby, struck from behind in the final eighth of a mile today to win the 70th richest of all derbies in the silk of Warren Wright's Calumet farm.

A none too impressive winner during the winter and early spring racing and beaten in the Chesapeake Stakes at Pimlico, last Saturday, the son of the 1933 English Derby winner, Hyperion, bounded home four and one-half lengths in front of Mrs. George Poulson's Broadcloth from Los Angeles.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Stir Up, 3-2 favorite of a crowd variously estimated from 60,000 to 70,000, trailed by another length and just managed to save third money from Shut Up of Sailor Joe Goldband's Erlanger stable.

In chalking up the second derby victory for Wright and the third for Trainer Ben Jones of Parnell, Mo., Conn. McCreary guided Pensive over the mile and one-quarter in 2:01.15 for his initial triumph in the three-year-old classic.

The time was considered excellent since the track was rated no better than "good" after rains of the last two days and was only one-fifth of a second slower than Count Fleet hung up in winning last year over a fast racing strip.

Jones also saddled Whirlaway when he won in Wright's devil red and blue silks in 1941 and previously had scored with Herbert M. Woolf's Lawlin in 1938.

With 16 of the 19 overnight entries starting, the race had a gross value of $86,700 with Pensive putting $65,200 of it in Wright's pocket. The previous high was 1942 when Shut Up won $64,750 of the $86,250 purse for Mrs. Whitney.

The turnout for the second straight street car Derby was considerably under that of pre-war days, but the fans poured $63,444 through the mutual machines on the Derby, with the greater part of the support going to Stir Up on the basis of his victories in the Flamingo Stakes and Wood Memorial and the fact that he was being handled by Eddie Arcaro, the nation's premier jockey.

The betting on the race was the highest since $675,106 was bet in 1929 when Clyde Van Dusen won.

The field also was the largest since War Admiral whipped 19 rivals in the 1937 Derby.

Second choice in the betting that had eight of the starters coupled in the "field," Pensive paid $16.20 for a $2 win ticket and returned $12.20 to place and $4.60 to show. Broadcloth, winner of the Derby Trial last Tuesday, paid $8.50 to place and $4.60 to show, while the show price on Stir Up was $3.00.

McCreary did a great job of rating Pensive, who didn't arrive at the Downs until Wednesday because Jones didn't consider him of Derby caliber after dropping a close decision to Mrs. A. J. Abels' Gramma Image in the Chesapeake.

From a good start, M. B. Goff's

TRIBE SCORES 3-2 WIN OVER BROWNS

Roy Cullenbine's Home Run In 8th Beats St. Louis; Yanks Win

By Larry Smith

CLEVELAND, May 6.—(AP)—Roy Cullenbine blasted relief hurler Sid Mendenhall's first pitch over the Browns' right field fence to break an eighth inning 2 to 2 deadlock and gave the Cleveland Indians a 3 to 2 win over the league-leading St. Louis Browns today in a delayed series opener.

The round tripper enabled 26-year-old Hal Kline to gain his initial major league mound victory. The Yankee southpaw recaptured shut out the Browns with two singles for the first six innings and gave up single rallies in the seventh and eighth. The Browns loaded the bases in the ninth on two singles and a walk but Kline put down the threat by forcing Vern Stephens to pop out.

The Tribesmen collected their first two runs in the third on successive singles by Russ Pears, Mackey Reese and Cullenbine. Reese scored from third on Ken Keltner's tag fly.

Milt Bernes scored St. Louis' initial run in the seventh when he lost off with a single, advanced to second on an infield out and crossed the plate on Ellis Gray's single. The Browns added the other in the eighth on George McQuinn's single on an infield out and another single by Mack Christman.

The defeat was St. Louis' fourth in 16 games.

SPORTS
ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 6.—(P)—Milwaukee's baseball-minded burghers, who have seen plenty of sensational stunts, should have seen some brand new experience when Casey Stengel adds his talents to those of Marime Bill Veck.

All they need is to get Joe Engel there and call it "Hellszapop-pin."

The Washington Redskins shouldn't have much trouble with the rules next fall. Shorty Ray, the pro-league's next adviser, learned his football from Coach Doc De Groote's father at Lewis University (now a part of Illinois Tech) some 40 years ago.

It cost only $3 for (less) to see the Sal Bartolo-Phil Terranova featherweight title fight at Boston last night. In New York the word "title" alone would be worth $150.00.

A Rookie A Day
Edgar Busch, Athletics' shortstop—A 300 hitter, which is a pretty good recommendation for any rookie.

He broke into pro ball with Lafayette, La., in 1938 and moved up until he played most of last season at Elmira, N. Y., where he hit .303. Got a late-season trial with the A's, batting .294 in four games, and started off this spring, though he's alternating with Bob Wilkins lately.

At any rate, Busch is cut of the bushes.

Sportsbouri
Wilbert Robinson was offered a contract with a Yankee farm club but turned it down. He's no relation to the former Dodger manager, but a 16-year-old local boy who has done some good pitching for City College of New York.

The "700" bowling clubs of America, composed of guys who have rolled 700 scores, starts its national telegraphic tournament tomorrow.

Prosperity note: Freddie Corcoran reports that promoters who used to try to shave the P. G. A. $5,000 minimum purse for golf tournaments now say "we can do better" when he suggests it.

The baseball coach at Power Memorial High school in the Bronx is Brother R. B. Power.

But what's the use of all that power if you don't get the pitching?

Service Department
Chuck Femenorick, the Detroit Lions' little halfback, didn't believe the medics when they closed him 4-F. He demanded another examination and now he's in the marines.

The Ottumwa, Ia., naval air station baseball team should do a fair job of base stealing. The sea flyer's coach is Lieutenant Merl Makeever, who stole 74 sacks for Moline, Ill., in the old Mississippi Valley league in 1923 and Athletic Director Lieutenant Jimmy Kitts pilfered 39 in the East Texas league in 1924.

Lieutenant L. D. Meyer, who played only a bit of football for his Uncle "Duke" at Texas Christian and who played basketball for the Detroit Tigers, has been named manager of the Fort Worth Tex., army air field ball club.

M'CREARY FIGURED
PENSIVE WAS RIGHT

By Barney Ballard
CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, May 6.—(P)—Little Conn McCreary figured last Monday at Pimlico that Pensive would win today's Kentucky Derby and he asked to go along for the ride.

And that's all he had to do to win—just ride.

"I threw away my stick after we got away," the grinning Miami boy said in the jockeys' dressing room after the race. "That horse didn't need any stick. I held him back until we hit the stretch, then turned him loose and you saw what he did."

It was the first Derby win in four years for the 99-pound St. Louis native, whose wife saw him ride in a Derby today for the first time. He was eighth on Our Boots in 1941, fifth in First Fiddle the next year and third a year ago with Slide Rule.

"I thought this would be my year," McCreary grinned as he pulled off a sweaty pair of socks. "I kept improving every year."

Owner Warren Wright and Trainer Ben Jones showered congratulations on the 22-year-old jockey.

"We got our first biscuit, didn't we son?" Wright said, as he slapped the youngster on the back. "Nice going."

McCreary said he first noticed Pensive's Derby qualities about three weeks ago, then decided the chestnut colt had an excellent chance to win less than a week ago.

"I talked the boss into bringing him down last Monday," McCreary said. "I felt then he would win."

As for today's race, McCreary said he "never was in trouble" from start to finish.

"We got caught behind two horses coming into the home stretch," said McCreary. "I pulled him up and shot through to the rail and turned him loose. That's all there was to it."

In Iran, the main diet for many persons over several months each year is bread and watermelons.

MILWAUKEE BIDS
GRIMM FAREWELL

Casey Stengel Will Take Over
Managerial Duties With Brewers

MILWAUKEE, May 6.—(P)—Jolly Cholly Grimm left Milwaukee and his American association champions for the road back to Wrigley Field and the pilot's post with the Chicago Cubs today.

But there was promise the Brewer faithful would not have long to brood over Grimm's leaving as Casey Stengel, one of the few men whose antics in baseball compare to that of Milwaukee's favorite Dutchman, became boss of the Brewers.

With Stengel, one-time Boston Braves and Brooklyn manager, as his successor, Grimm was ready to take times up and fouled out, ending his 11 game hitting streak. George Stinney, however, hit safely to stretch his skin to 19 games.

over the last place Cubs in time for tomorrow's double header. Yesterday he agreed to fill the post which he formerly held for six years and which was vacated this week by Jimmy Wilson.

Grimm's departure marked the end of baseball's cagiest clown combination, Charlie the manager and co-owner of the Brewers with President Bill Veck. Grimm was the perfect foil for Sport Saint Bill's shenanigans.

He played the banjo in Veck's swing band, sang in the executive quip and with Veck bounced the Brewers from the cellar to the top of the heap in little more than a year.

They took over Milwaukee in June, 1941, and in 1942 the club was in the flag fight up to the final day, Kansas City dropping the Brewers out of first place for the pennant. Last year the Brews finished first and currently lead the league with 10 wins and two losses.

The combination split up last winter when Veck, son of a former Cub president, enlisted as a marine private.

"I know how Bill (Veck) feels about it," Grimm said. "I wouldn't go if I didn't feel it best for all concerned. He said he had not discussed salary terms with Phil K. Wrigley, Cub owner, but that 'anything he does is all right with me.'"

Veteran of 13 years with the Cubs, including six as pilet, Grimm probably will get a contract covering approximately more than the $30,000 paid Wilson when he returns to the job he resigned July 30, 1938.

Stengel, a player, coach and manager in both the National league and American association, has not been associated with the game this year. His last job was in 1943 as manager of the Boston Braves. Previously he had managed Brooklyn for three years and in 1927 piloted Toledo to an association pennant.

KELTNER SUMMONED FOR ARMY INDUCTION EXAMS

CLEVELAND, May 6.—(P)—Ken Keltner, third baseman of the Cleveland Indians, reported today he had been called by his Milwaukee draft board for a pre-induction physical examination Monday.

Recently reclassified from 2-B to 1-A, Keltner said he would play with the Indians in a double header against the St. Louis Browns here Sunday and then leave for Milwaukee.

The Indians front office also announced football Pitcher Alie Reynolds and rookie catcher Russ Lyon had been called for physical examinations in Cleveland next Saturday.

SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson
NEW SERVICE Sports Editor
LOUISVILLE, May 6.—Although in the army now, Lieutenant Colonel Leland Stanford MacPhail is still ordering ball players around.

It was Lieutenant Colonel MacPhail who went to General Marshall with the idea of transferring professional players from station complements to combat divisions.

Lieutenant Colonel MacPhail has been on for three seasons. The erstwhile fiery guide of the Gowanus realized it wouldn't hurt the morale of combat units to have real live ball players attached to them. He grew tired of permanent reception and replacement center clubs belting loams representing combat regiments, considered it unfair. With 150 major league players on camp teams, he considered the practice in effect bad for organized baseball.

The McClellan Field team of Sacramento, composed of former major and minor leaguers, won 63 out of 80 games in a year, for example. Big league numbers on the roster were Jerry Priddy of the Senators, Mike McCormick of the Reds, Walter Judnick of the Browns and Daro Lodigiani of the White Sox.

This was one of the first outfits hit by General Marshall's order switching players stationed a reasonable length of time in one place to combat groups.

The army henceforth will match the navy in spreading ball players around, and getting them into the thick of things, where they, like other athletes, belong and want to be.

From the time it was evident that MacPhail was going to straighten out the Brooklyn club in no time at all, he had unlimited backing to buy a franchise.

The Dodgers he put on their feet for sale for $1,700,000. Does he consider that a good buy? He does not. Why? Ebbets Field is too small. It accommodates no more than 20,000, where a capacity of 50,000 is required to be profitable. This is impossible at the present site, where the stockholders have a $1,000,000 investment.

With MacPhail running the works the Brooks established a major league attendance record in playing to more than 1,000,000 at home for four consecutive campaigns, in only two of which they were factors in the pennant race. They appeared before 1,200,000 in their own backyard while winning the flag in 1941, when they easily could have done 400,000 more had there been space.

For three seasons, the Dodgers played to 45 per cent of the entire National league attendance at home and on the road. To be successful, however, a club has to have big years, to offset the poor, and when a bump-up comes along a place to park the patrons.

Lieutenant Colonel MacPhail flies around the country in the interests of service forces, but he is not too busy to think of post-war baseball. You may wager that he'll be in it.

Lenny MacPhail is too fond of scheming, dreaming and talking of it to remain out.

At the half Pensive had only six horses beaten and Diavolaw still was on top by a half length over Comenow in a 35-45 clocking. The positions of Broadcloth and Stir Up were unchanged. Then Aravaro and Broadcloth, made their moves. They quickly collared Diavolaw and battled on even terms past the three quarter mark with Broadcloth holding a half length advantage.

Meanwhile, McCreary had taken Pensive to the outside and started to pour it on. From 10th at the half mile post he moved up to fifth after Broadcloth had covered the first six furlongs in 1:12 2-5.

Rounding the bend out of the back stretch, Broadcloth and Stir Up battled it out, head and head, but Pensive was coming and his supporters let out a mighty roar. He still, however, was several lengths back when the two leaders pointed their nose for home—a quarter of a mile away.

SIAMESE TWINS TAKEN BY DEATH

Comes As Release For Stierly
Babies Hopelessly Joined

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 6.—(AP)—To Joyce and Sandra Stierly, tiny blonde girls doomed never to have a separate existence, death came as a release today from the bonds that joined them at their birth six days ago.

Joyce, the larger and apparently stronger, ceased her labored breathing shortly after midnight and Sandra, whose circulatory weakness forced an early end to the struggle for life, died a few minutes later.

There was the only birth of Siamese twins ever recorded in Pennsylvania and the way in which their gaunt bodies were joined—with heads at opposite ends of the crib—was said by doctors to be almost unprecedented anywhere.

The twins' widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Stierly, 24, who wept when she learned how their bodies were linked, wasn't to be told of their death until later. Her husband, Harold, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

Dr. J. Elmer Gotsch, who delivered the twins, said they contracted pneumonia although hot water bottles and electric heating pads surrounded them from the first.

Their temperature during the last hours rose to 105.2 and their weight, nearly 12 pounds when they were born last Sunday morning, dropped below eight pounds.

Sandra was fed a condensed milk formula from an eye-dropper. Joyce received hers from a nursing bottle. Dr. Gotsch said the twins were joined "end to end with a common pelvic area. Running out perpendicularly from one side of the pelvic area was one leg which had been fused together from two legs. This fused leg tapered down to a tiny heel and a single tiny toe."

Obviously, the doctor said, they never could have walked, although the outer legs were normal, nor could they ever have been separated. At no time was there expectation that they would live.

BIRTHS

Lieutenant and Mrs. C. R. Campbell, West Monroe, have announced the birth on May 3 of a son, Michael Allen Campbell, at St. Francis sanitarium here. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baucus, Chillicothe, O., and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Campbell, 804 Clayton street, West Monroe. Lieutenant Campbell is in service overseas.

A son, Donald Alan, was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Baker of Monroe, at St. Francis Sanitarium April 29.

YUGOSLAV FORCES KILL 900 GERMANS

LONDON, May 6.—(AP)—Marshal Tito's Yugoslav forces killed more than 900 of the enemy yesterday in extensive operations topped by a strong new German tank and plane offensive in eastern Bosnia, a partisan communiqué said today.

The communiqué said that the Nazi offensive had broken through to Vlasenica, 32 miles northeast of Sarajevo, and that enemy reinforcements were being brought up around Ustik. 75 miles east of Sarajevo, in an attempt to surround partisan units.

In the eastern Bosnia action, the bulletin said that 400 Nazis were accounted for by Yugoslav guerrillas, and another 150 killed as the partisans swooped into western Bosnia.

Tito's men were reported to have swept into Zagreb in the north in a recent night raid, capturing nine enemy soldiers and some important documents.

STATES HIGH COMMAND WILL REVEAL INVASION

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Elmer Davis, director of war information, told Americans today to mistrust Nazi invasion reports, declaring: "When command will announce it, the Allied command will announce it."

Devis predicted "Joe Goebbels will be putting out more and more stuff as time goes on" trying to start flare-ups of invasion talk in the hope of getting valuable information from official denials.

OWI said one bogus story was spread yesterday by the Vichy radio which broadcast that Allied "demonstration landings" had been made in an attempt to draw German defense troops out of position.

Lieutenant General James A. Doolittle, commander in chief, Eighth AAF, announced somewhere in England recently.

The cluster was presented by Colonel Irvine A. Rendle of Rawlins, Wyoming, B-24 Liberator Group commander. The citation read:

FAMILY FORCED TO SLEEP ON BENCHES

RAHWAY, N. J., May 6.—(AP)—After one restless night in which they and nine of their 12 children slept on courthouse benches and a second night spent in a Salvation Army shelter, Mr. and Mrs. Compton today resumed their search for a landlord who did not object to children as tenants.

The Comptons and eleven of the children, ranging in age from eight months to 17 years, spent last night at the Salvation Army Women's emergency home in Newark. The night before two of the children slept with former neighbors while the rest of the family, except for an older son who is overseas with the army, rested on benches provided by police.

On Thursday Compton, a rubber company laborer, returned to find his home at 928 St. George avenue to find furniture on the sidewalk. He had been evicted from the former one-room store, when they had partitioned with curtains. Compton searched for a new home, but could find no landlord willing to rent to a large family. For the same reason, he said, he had been forced to live in the store.

Aiding Compton were church and welfare organizations which sought unsuccessfully to find another home for the family.

William Whalen, tavernkeeper and the Compton's former landlord said he had evicted them only as a last resort, after having served the family several legal notices to vacate so he could erect a new building on the site.

Before the war, Nazi Germany was producing synthetic gasoline from coal at the rate of ten million barrels a year.

MEAT CHEATERS' STATUS STUDIED

OPA Undecided Whether They Will Get Groans Or Gravy

By James Marlow and George Zielke
WASHINGTON, May 6.—(P)—OPA experts huddled today around the scales of justice to decide on groans or gravy for meat cheats.

So good with food

COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY
MONROE, LA. PHONE 154

ended from getting any meat. For—OPA ruled that the suspended cheats could do business again in all meats except those still rationed, steaks and roasts.

This would seem to leave them only a little in the red. But would it? And how much? This is where the picture gets jumbled because OPA at the same time cut the value of meat points in half.

Until Wednesday a certain number of red points had to last a week. Now the same number has to last two weeks. But how does this affect the meat dealer whose suspension was lifted? Take a look:

Jones had a restaurant. OPA allowed him 1,000 points a month for meat. He deposited those points in a ration bank, writing checks against them for the meat he bought. But he cheated.

Instead of staying within his 1,000-point limit, he overdraw his account by writing checks that totaled 2,000. Thus he got meat worth 2,000 points but was able to pay only 1,000.

OPA found out. Jones was suspended from getting meat until those 1,000 points were paid back. Since his allotment was 1,000 monthly, that meant a month's suspension.

Suppose the decision was handed down Tuesday. Jones must have looked at the month ahead gloomily. But he brightened Wednesday when OPA left only steaks and roasts rationed.

With his suspension lifted at the same time, Jones knew he could stay in business by buying all the meat he wanted except steaks and roasts. And the ban on those two items would last only a month.

Would it? Or would it mean—remembering that OPA also cut the point values in half—that Jones couldn't buy any steaks or roasts for two months since the 1,000 points that were good for one month before now had to last two months?

Or would OPA, if it had told Jones before Wednesday to pay back 1,000 points, stick to that ruling in spirit and let him off with 500?

And here's another side. Some meat cheats were suspended until they had paid back a specified number of points. Others were suspended for a flat period of time, like one month.

Then suppose Jones was suspended until he had paid back 1,000 points while another chiseler, Smith, was suspended for a flat one month. If OPA says Jones has to pay back his points, even if it means two months in the paying, wouldn't Smith be getting off lighter than Jones?

OPA was asked for the answer to all this. The answer was: OPA didn't know the answer and its experts would go into a conference today to find it.

COURT MARTIAL SYSTEM IS TOLD

Major George Fink Explains How It Works In Army

The address of Major George Fink, in civilian life a local attorney, which was given at the Exchange club dealt with the interesting subject of the army court martial system. It was of so much interest that it is in part, given hereafter.

Under the army court martial system, where you begin with a criminal indictment or bill of information, we have what is known as a "charge sheet." Any person subject to military law can prefer charges against any other person likewise subject to military law.

The charge, together with a resume of the expected evidence, are referred to a staff judge advocate for examination and recommendation. If he concludes that there is sufficient evidence to warrant bringing the accused to trial, he so recommends to the appointing authority, who nominally is the commanding officer of the accused.

"There are three types of courts, the lowest of which is known as the 'summary court.' It is composed of one officer and he has authority to sentence the accused up to 30 days confinement at hard labor, and forfeiture of two-thirds of one month's pay. This corresponds with what you know as the 'justice of the peace court.'"

"The next higher court is a 'special court martial.' This is composed of not less than three officers, the senior of whom is president. This 'court' can sentence an accused up to six months confinement at hard labor, and a forfeiture of two-thirds of his pay per month for a like period. This corresponds to our city courts.

"The highest court is the 'general court martial.' It has unlimited jurisdiction, and it corresponds to our district courts. It is composed of not less than five officers, one of whom is designated as 'law member,' and he rules on all questions of law arising during the trial.

"Should the appointing authority decide that a case should be referred to a 'general martial,' it is necessary that an investigating officer be appointed who must make a fair and impartial investigation of the charges. His investigation, and report, is returned to the staff judge advocate, who studies it, and if in his opinion the evidence is sufficient he recommends to his commanding officer that the charges be referred for trial to a general court martial.

"A staff judge advocate's position corresponds with the judges of our circuit court of appeals. The officer who actually tries the case for the government, and whose duties correspond with that of the United States attorney, is called the trial judge advocate.

"Each accused is represented before a special or general court martial by an officer appointed by the commanding officer, who refers the case for trial, and he is known as the defense counsel.

"A careful selection is made in selecting both the trial judge advocate and defense counsel, and usually they are lawyers, or those who have had wide experience in this field. Every precaution is taken to safeguard the interests of the accused in every stage of the proceedings. For example, he can retain a lawyer from civilian life to represent him, or request an officer in addition to the regularly appointed defense counsel as his individual counsel.

"After the case has been heard, and the court reaches its findings and sentence (where found guilty) the record is made up and after being examined by both the president of the court, the trial judge advocate and the defense counsel, it is sent back to the staff judge advocate for final review, and recommendations. He carefully weighs the evidence, in light of the applicable law, and assures himself that the accused has had a fair and impartial trial, and that the court has not committed any error prejudicial to the accused, whereupon he recommends to the appointing authority that the case be approved. Should the case involve a dishonorable discharge of an enlisted man, or dismissal in case of an officer, which the appointing authority believes should be executed, the record ord with the action taken by the appointing authority is forwarded to the office of the judge advocate general, in Washington, D. C., where it is again carefully reviewed for legal sufficiency, and if found legally sufficient the action of the court-martial is reversed. If found legally sufficient it must be approved by the judge advocate general. It then goes to the secretary of war for his action, and finally to the president of the United States. Up to a short time ago the president personally reviewed these general court martial records but now Judge Rosenham, formerly of the New York circuit court of appeals, advise him as to his action. He still must personally sign the action. We thus see that the rights of the accused, under our Constitution, and the Articles of War, are fully and adequately protected at every stage of the proceeding."

GEN. HODGES IS MONROE GUEST

L. S. U. President Visits Two Cities; Inspects College

General Campbell B. Hodges, president of Louisiana State University, spent part of Friday, both night and morning, in Monroe, and left Saturday morning for Shreveport.

He attended the Louisiana Press Association annual convention and appeared on the program Friday morning. He had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Milliken, the former county agent at Bastrop, Friday noon, and came to Monroe later in the day.

When here he went with Dean C. C. Colvert through the various buildings and made a closeup inspection. Also had a conference with the dean regarding future plans for the institution.

At night a reception was given in the dean's home to the general as honor guest. Attending were members of the college faculty and a few invited guests.

The general expressed himself as well pleased with progress that has been made by the local institution and with the faculty and the program that is planned for the near future.

CLARE T. MAJOR PLAYS POPULAR

Sponsors Here Clear $1,000 For Methodist Building Fund

The sponsors of the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater Plays closed their most successful year in our Twin Cities last week when the chairman, Mrs. W. E. Sandel, announced that every obligation had been met and that the Parker Memorial class of the First Methodist church had exceeded all expectations in making the year a major success.

Two years ago, when this ambitious group of women undertook to sponsor these plays in order that the children of Monroe and West Monroe might have this unusual opportunity of enriching their lives with wholesome entertainment, they were so delighted with the plays, the enthusiasm of the children, and with the $500 profit placed in their building fund that they immediately decided to renew the contract and, if conditions permitted, to bring the plays to Monroe for another year.

Again, four outstanding children's plays were produced on the stage of the Ouachita Parish school auditorium and each time they played to a capacity crowd of excited, enthusiastic children and, yes, many grown-ups.

At the end of the year, with the contract paid off, and other incidentals cared for, the chairman announces that $1,000 has bought a Series G government bond for the educational building fund.

The publicity chairman states that this major success could not have been had, were it not for the wholehearted support and cooperation given by merchants, business houses, clubs and organizations and many interested friends who acted as patrons, buying season's memberships used by many of the children who saw the plays.

Miss Elizabeth Langford, publicity director, states that she wishes to express appreciation to those patrons and to the local press; to Jack Hayes for use of the Ouachita Parish High School auditorium and to Miss Eve Bradford for publicity, as well as to every child who aided in the success of the year just closed.

A contract for next year is signed and Peter Pan will be the first play to be given here.

PROMINENT NEGRO LECTURER SLATED

Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, nationally well known colored orator, educator and minister of Los Angeles, Calif., will lecture at St. James Methodist Church on Wednesday night.

The lecture is being sponsored by the St. James Church School, the Junior Choir, the Youth Fellowship and other groups, and the public is invited to attend.

THE LITTLE THEATER CHRONICLE

It is hoped that parents will see "Junior Miss" this week, and go away chastened.

This experience can be gained Monday and Tuesday evenings at North-east Junior college, beginning at 8:30 each evening.

The chastening will come from the lips of the youngest of the cast, Judy Graves and her sidekick, Fuffy Adams. It is these two who put up with one foible after another in their stage parents, and their forbearance toward these shortcomings is something every father and mother should take to heart.

When Judy remarks that she is the only one in the house with any imagination, no one can fail to agree that her imagination dwarfs all the rest within range.

Fuffy wonders whether parents are worth all she goes through for them, when her mother telephones her it's time to go home to bed, in the midst of a serious discussion with Judy. In an unthinking moment Fuffy even refers to her intruding parent as "the menace." Again, when Judy shows her a doll she received for Christmas, from an old fashioned fogey who still thinks dolls would be of the slightest interest to anybody aged 12, Fuffy tolerantly observes, "How too saccharine."

No up-to-date parent can fail to see the kids' point of view. As will be seen in the play they have the best interests of their folks at heart, and it is not only impolite but shortsighted for the folks to interfere with their activities.

"Junior Miss" closes the season for the Little Theater.

Admission to Monday and Tuesday evening performances is by season ticket, or 75 cents at the door for those who do not have season tickets. No seats are reserved.

A free performance will be given this afternoon at 3 o'clock for cadets and enlisted men and their wives and dates.

Dixie Funeral Home Given War Production Priority To Expand Facilities Here

Construction has been started at the Dixie Funeral Home, 403 Jackson street, for extensive expansion which has been necessitated by wartime conditions and for which governmental approval has been given.

C. A. Hall, owner of the Dixie Funeral Home, announces that this new construction will virtually double the size of the present chapel through the erection of an adjoining room and enclosing an outer porch. This will make possible, when sliding double doors are drawn, to form a spacious chapel or when so required or two entirely separated chapels can be utilized at the same time.

A spacious main hallway will be provided from the ornate colonial entrance through the entire building, twice the distance of the present hall.

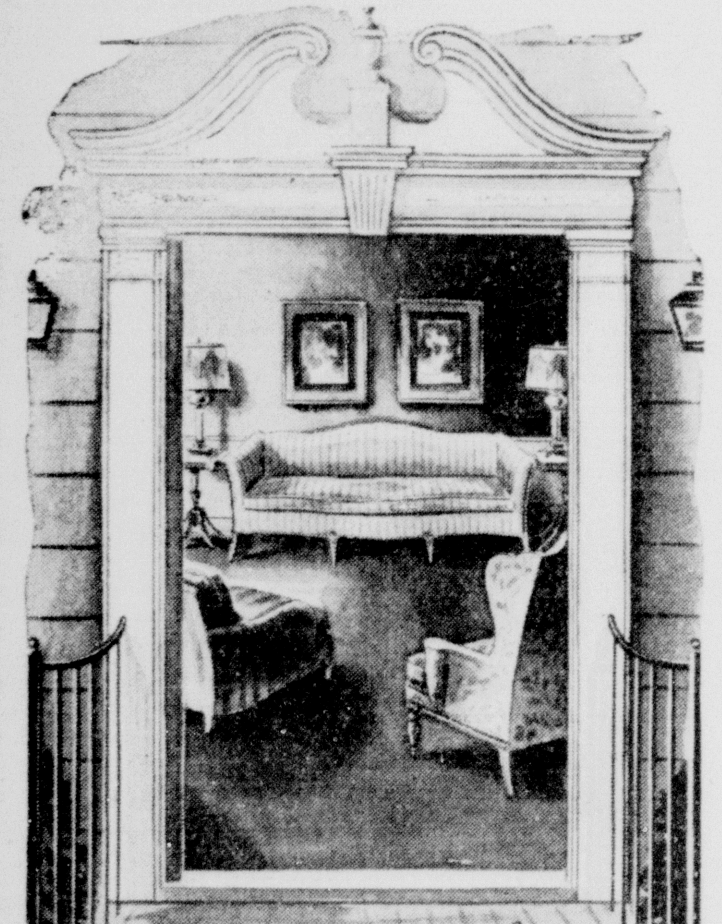

The enlarging room will be very greatly enlarged by the removal of a partition and elimination of stock now stored temporarily in crowded quarters.

This handsome colonial building, one of the choicest examples of architecture in this area, will undergo complete interior decoration in designs that will cause a pleasing blending of colors. Venetian blinds will be installed throughout the house and other improvements are to be effected, including exterior painting which will carry out the effectiveness of the structure.

At the rear of the lot, there will be erected six garages for cars, ambulances, and funeral coaches, and a storage or warehouse, 25 feet by 100 feet, will be provided. All work will be supervised by Jack Curry and will be completed inside of a month's time. The governmental approval calls for an expenditure not to exceed $4,000.

Mr. Hall is assured that when the improvements are completed, the establishment will be the finest of the kind in northeast Louisiana.

This palatial, colonial type building is one of Northeast Louisiana's most modern and best equipped funeral homes. This fine old ante-bellum home, which is admired by thousands, is also the home office of the H. J. Funeral Service Insurance Company, Inc.—adv.

Engagement Of Miss Sara Frances Hinkle To Lieut. W. B. Liles Announced

Marriage Planned For The Tenth Day Of June

Popular Member Of Monroe's Younger Set Will Become Bride Of U. S. Navy Surgeon

Claiming the sincere interest of friends throughout this section of the state is the announcement made today by Mrs. Elmer Gardner Hinkle of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Sara Frances, to Lieutenant William Burchall Liles, medical corps United States Navy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Nelson Pickett Liles of Bastrop, La.

The wedding will take place June 10th in Seattle, Wash., where Lieutenant Liles is stationed at the United States Naval hospital.

Miss Hinkle is one of the most popular members of Monroe's younger set and for the past few years has been making her home in New Orleans where she has been residing with two sorority sisters in the historical Vieux Carré while a student of medical technology at Charity hospital.

She is a graduate of Neville High school and was valedictorian of her class and president of the student body. She also graduated from Northeast Junior college where she was a member of the Purple Jackets and Phi Theta Kappa, national scholastic sorority. She received her B. S. degree from Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge and was named one of the outstanding transfer students. She was a member of the student council and was on the staff of the Gumbo. Miss Hinkle's name appeared in Who's Who in American Colleges. She is a member of Chi Omega fraternity and Delta Beta Sigma sorority.

Miss Hinkle since completing her course in medical technology at Charity hospital, New Orleans, has been serving on the staff.

Lieutenant Liles is a graduate of Northeast Junior college and attended Centenary college where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. He was graduated from L. S. U. medical school last December. While attending medical school he was named president of Phi Chi, social fraternity and was a member of honorary fraternities in surgery and medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rockett of Rayville announce the marriage of their daughter, Hilda, to Sergeant Turner B. Branch, Jr., on April 6. She is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and is now home demonstration agent at Harrisonburg. Sergeant Branch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Branch of Rayville. He recently returned to this country after serving two years in the south Pacific war area. He is now stationed at the Alexandria air field as an instructor.

MONROE MAN TO WED TENNESSEE GIRL

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Rosalie Marie Randolph, above, to Ensign Herlong Averett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin E. Anspach Concert To Be Presented On May 13

When the Review club arranged for the appearance of Lieutenant and Mrs. LeRoy Anspach in a concert on Saturday, May 13, its members had in mind the presentation of increasingly interesting programs at their annual open meetings. Because of the prominence of Lieutenant and Mrs. Anspach in the world of music the club feels that it is unusually fortunate this year, especially since its entertainment happens to come during National Music Week. The concert will be the main feature of the program at the open meeting, which will be in the form of a silver tea. The proceeds will be given to the nurses' scholarship fund, which is one of the outstanding ways in which the National Federation of Women's clubs is contributing to the war effort. All club women and interested friends in this section of the state are cordially invited to attend the concert and tea.

A native of Germantown, Pennsylvania, Lieutenant Anspach is now stationed at Selman field. As a youth he was assembly pianist at Germantown High School for three years and appeared as soloist at many gatherings of music lovers in Philadelphia.

The youthful Anspach divided his time between his love for music and for the mysteries of portable radio sets. Early in his high school career he passed a government examination for a commercial radio license and at 16 followed a boyhood urge and went to sea as a radio operator. After traveling 50,000 miles aboard various ships, Anspach returned to Philadelphia and completed his high school course.

After winning a scholarship to Wesleyan college, Anspach entered a contest for piano students. With less than three weeks to learn the required selection, which he had never played, "Valse Brillante," by Chopin, Anspach carried off first prize and embarked on his musical career. Winning a scholarship to study under Leo Ornstein in another contest, Anspach completed his study under the guidance of Alberto Jonas in New York.

Due to the unusual combination of pianistic talent and a thorough knowledge of radio technique, Anspach became interested in the mechanical procedure used in broadcasts of symphony orchestras. With the same perfection that marked his performance as a pianist, Anspach became technical sound director for the Philadelphia Orchestra and worked with Leopold Stokowski, Jose Sturbel and Eugene Ormandy over the nation's largest radio networks. Besides serving as technical adviser for these conductors on the airways, Anspach appeared as soloist under Stokowski and Sturbel, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, and in Town Hall, New York.

Eloise Temple Anspach, a Monroe girl, has already established herself as one of the south's most promising young sopranos. Beginning as a pupil of Mrs. Estelle Sanders in Monroe, she

'Letters To Lucerne' To Be Presented Here

"Letters to Lucerne," the major spring production of the Mask and Wig Club, dramatic club of O. P. H. S., will be presented in the school auditorium May 12, at 8:15 p.m. This play, written by Fritz Rotter and Allen Vincent, was a hit on Broadway last season, and being of a rather serious nature, offers an opportunity for Ouachita's promising young actors and actresses to display their dramatic talents.

Mrs. Julia Martin, director of this presentation, has announced the selection of the following cast: Olga Karinski-Billie Ann Robbins, Erna Schmidt-Mantha Rose Caroway.

Miss Linder-Barbara Horton, Hans Schmidt-Metris Bell, Gustave-J. B. Ryals, Margaret-Martha Prentice, Mrs. Hunter-Evelyn Tatum, Bingo Hill-Jewel Dean Hudson, Felice Renoir-Mary Elizabeth Hammons.

Marion Curwood-Bonnie Holloway, Sally Jackson-Georgene Welch, Francois-Tommy Hays, Herr Koppler-Mickey DuBos.

The scene is laid in a girls' boarding school near Lucerne, Switzerland, and opens late in the summer of 1839, just prior to Germany's invasion of Poland. In their dormitory at night it is the girls' custom to read aloud their letters from home, and although the schoolmistress hopes to keep the school isolated from the turmoil of the war-torn world outside, these letters bring the bitterness in.

Although she is innocent, the German girl is blamed for the German atrocities, and she is forced to undergo many trials because of this. Ultimately the authors manage to absolve her completely in a concluding letter that is beautifully written.

The romance is provided by the love of the Polish girl, Olga, and the German boy, Hans, and many of the dramatic scenes center around the trials they must undergo because of Germany's invasion of Poland. With sensitivity, good taste and genuine feeling the authors describe the wreckage that results to human feeling and human decency through the horrors that the Nazi spirit has brought upon us. This is a drama of honest emotion, written in the deepest sincerity, and much of it is lovely and moving.

Little Theatre Play Slated Tuesday Night

Season To Close With Staging Of 'Junior Miss' At Northeast Junior College

The Little Theatre season will climax in this city next Tuesday night when one of the most refreshing comedies in the history of local amateur performances, "Junior Miss" with a company of 21 players, will be presented. There will be a performance this afternoon for the benefit of men and women in the armed forces and Monday and Tuesday night at Northeast Junior College for the public generally.

Sharon Anderson, who has been in the leading juvenile role, made her debut in Little Theatre circles several years ago. Thanks to the discerning eye of the director, Mrs. Mildred Merrill, several juveniles with considerable histrionic ability will share honors with Miss Anderson in "Junior Miss." In fact every member of the cast will contribute something worth while to the evening's performance. Their work is spontaneous and wholesome—most refreshing after a season of heavy drama.

"Junior Miss" was written by Jerome Chodrov and Joseph Fields. They extracted their materials from the collection of sub-deb sketches contributed to the New Yorker magazine by Sally Benson. These sketches seemed the adventures of a 14-year-old and her girl chum. The producer's first concern, quite naturally, was the finding of proper young actresses to play the two chief roles. Adolescent heroines in the theatre have always been a little difficult to find. If the actress is young enough to look the part, she is too young to play it with anything resembling authority. If she is old enough and sufficiently experienced to have acquired authority, she is likely to be much too sure to suggest convincingly the adolescent mood and reactions.

Incidentally, Mr. Moss Hart was seen to direct the play. During his search for actresses, Patricia Pearden, 17-year-old daughter of Lieutenant Commander Roswell C. Pearden of the Navy Air Forces, was sitting in the ante-room of the Max Gordon, who was the producer of the play when it was at New York Lyceum theatre on November 18, offices waiting for a young actor who was applying for a part. She was wearing a sweater, slippers and low shoes, she reports, and no thought of looking for a part for herself. A passing stage manager asked her if she were an actress, she said she was, promptly, because in she had done some work both on the stage and in radio. He suggested that she come back at four o'clock.

Patricia, a little excited by this, dashed home and changed both her get-up and her make-up so that by four o'clock she might look more like she thought a grown-up actress should look. When she appeared in, she was a young lady indeed.

Hart gave her one look and decided her the role of Lois (the role will be played locally by Edith Williams, the debutante sister of "Junior Miss" heroine Patricia).

It was about to be dismissed when Mr. Hart, a mite suspicious of high heels and rouged cheeks, suggested that she read the role of Judy, the 14-year-old heroine of the play, in she figuratively descended from high heels the loads of costume which she had mustered from the closet and became herself. A second time with high heels, jewelry, eye shadow, lip rouge, and high hair—she moved gained for her the leading role. Though still starchy-eyed about "big chance," she looked forward to the opening night with considerable trepidation. Now, opening night came and gone. Both "Junior Miss" and Patricia Pearden are both hits. Opening November 18, 1944, has run continuously to date, having won 658 successful performances to June 15, 1943. But until the run the play is over, and she has shed "lots more about the stage."

Patricia heed the movie scouts knocking at her door.

Interior Decorating Described In Books

Every woman shows interest in period furniture, especially if it is her home she is planning to furnish. But can every woman have access to the services of eminent interior decorators? The answer is "yes." Through books received recently by the library of Northeast Junior college, L. S. U., the novice and the experienced collector can gain practical and authoritative information on all phases of interior decoration.

"Garden's Complete Guide to Interior Decoration" will furnish answers to hosts of questions about color schemes and furniture, rugs and draperies, lamps and lighting, as well as functional modern kitchens. This attractive book includes the work of seventy-five foremost American decorators, among them Elsie de Wolfe, Ruby Ross Wood and Joseph B. Platt. Robert Medill McBride, editor-in-chief of "House and Garden" has edited the handbook.

Collectors of early American glassware or fine modern glass will find books on these subjects invaluable in their study of pieces they own or would like to find. Identifying and evaluating are made possible through familiarizing yourself with the volumes written by connoisseurs of museum pieces.

Are you planning a new home—that is—after the war? "On Being an Architect" gives students, laymen and architects a comprehensive picture of architecture today. Also in this field, but of a historical nature, is John Anderson Miller's "Master Builders of Sixty Centuries." He tells the story of some of the great engineering triumphs down through the ages: the pyramids, great wall of China, Roman roads and aqueducts, structures erected by the Aztecs and many evidences of engineering feats down to modern times with the Panama canal and Brooklyn bridge. Miller colors his stories with information drawn from writings of travelers and historians of their respective ages for authenticity.

If it is a picture or piece of pottery you are considering, then you will find fascinating reading in some of the new titles at the college library. The list includes the famous Phaidon edition of art books, published by the Oxford University Press. These volumes contain the works of old masters and modernists. Paintings and sculpture are among the predominant reproductions. Raphael, Frans Hals and Goya are represented in this collection; also the sculpture of Donatello, the gifted Michelangelo and the Etruscans is displayed.

Miss Jo Anne Severence, daughter of Lieutenant and Mrs. F. L. Severence, to the left, and Miss Edith McWilliams, to the right, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds McWilliams, are cast in important roles in the Little Theatre production, "Junior Miss." Jo Anne, cast in the irrepressible role of "Fuffy" gives an excellent portrayal of the "Junior Miss." Edith in the role of "Lois" has been cast in a part ideally suited to her personality. She has appeared in several plays at Neville High school where she is a member of this year's senior class.

Important Non-Fiction Books Available Here

During wartime our American civilization needs books more than ever, for they are essential in our winning of the war and for the peace that will follow. Think of the influence of books in the past—from the Bible to "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and even "Mein Kampf." In these days of rumor, propaganda, and censorship, how important it is that books receive wide distribution in America and that we Americans can secure reading material that enables us to understand our Allies and to consider problems that will perplex us in the post-war world.

Many informative non-fiction are available at the public libraries in the Twin cities.

"Toward a Better World" gives the views of one of the most influential of Allied statesmen—Field Marshal Smuts, prime minister of the Union of South Africa. His views on the British Commonwealth idea, Europe and the Far East, a new world order and the future, reveal him as a command prophet in the field of international politics.

In "They Shall Not Sleep," Leland Stowe, the well-known correspondent and author of "No Other Road to Freedom" gives evidence of the dissolution of England's empire, the inner rot of India, the contradictions in China and the true politics of Russia. "Lend Lease" by Edward Stettinius gives the complete and authentic story of lend-lease. Stettinius organized, managed, and sped the execution of one of the most gigantic tasks ever undertaken, and surely, one of our country's greatest contributions towards victory.

Ely Culbertson in "Total Peace" gives a comprehensive blue-print for world settlement, based on a total victory over Nazi Germany and her militarist Allies.

Other thought-provoking books include: "U. S. S. R." Walter Duranty; "Russia and the United States," Sorokin; "Behind the Steel Wall," Fredrick; "Der Fuehrer," Heiden; "The Forgotten Ally," Van Paassen; "India Against the Storm," Wheeler; "D-Day," John Gunther; and "Hour of Triumph," George Fielding Eliot.

Monroe Man Marries Miss Janet Churchill

The interest of friends is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Sergeant Donald McAllister, son of Mrs. Sallie McAllister, South Second street, this city and Miss Janet Churchill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Churchill of 23 Steer Road, Dorset, England.

The ceremony took place at Saint Edward's church, Dorset, with relatives of the bride in attendance.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. McAllister plans to make her home in this city with her husband's mother until he returns from overseas.

MR. RUBIN, a most accommodating gentleman, will send on approval any article in this shop to customers who are looking for a MOTHER'S DAY gift. Mother can pass her approval upon the gift if needed. How happy it would make her to receive a piece of genuine antique jewelry from the R and A.

I'll be seeing you tomorrow night at the Little Theatre play, "JUNIOR MISS."

Etiquette Of Flowers Told By Mrs. Harper

Many doctors agree that flowers have definite healing power. Hospital flowers may take several forms—either a cheerful arrangement to brighten the room or an intimate bedside bouquet which the patient can reach out and touch. The female of the species will appreciate a corsage, a man who is ill is sure to appreciate magazines or cigarettes along with flowers. While a gift of flowers for a sick child should include a small toy. Flowers have been intimately associated with the ceremonies surrounding the departure of humans from this life since the dawn of history. Their meaning is little changed today and they bring comfort to the living as well as show respect for the dead. The sending of flowers on the occasion of death has a far deeper meaning than many of us suspect when we dispatch funeral flowers casually or as a matter of form.

The etiquette governing the proper time for sending flowers is not based on compulsory customs. There is no law compelling us to be kind, thoughtful, and courteous. In conveying our feelings to others, flowers say things in ways which words fail to express. Their language is universal, whether carrying a message of love, comforting the bereft or adding to the pleasures of a joyous occasion. Because of the seasonal character of flowers, the selection of what varieties to send on any occasion or their proper arrangement should be considered.

Flowers are sent to the mother of a new baby immediately after the birth is announced. The arrangement should be of small flowers in a novel container. The custom of sending flowers on birthdays has increased in popularity during recent years. Flowers are a gracious compliment, no matter the lady's age. Perhaps the most charming custom is to send flowers to your mother on your own birthday and most certainly on Mother's Day.

When attending a formal dinner or a theater party, a gentleman usually provides his lady with a corsage. If possible the corsage should either match or contrast with the color of her gown, but when this is not known, send white. If a man is invited for dinner to the home of friends, he can do one of two things—either send a bouquet of flowers to the hostess on the day of the dinner or he may send her a bouquet during the following day or week-end. When a young lady receives such an invitation and attends unaccompanied, she should show the same courtesy to her hostess.

If an engagement is to be announced at a formal party, friends who have been invited send flowers to the place where the party will be held. The young man sends a corsage for his betrothed, his future mother-in-law and a boutonniere to his future father-in-law. All other flowers used for the party are provided by the bride's family. During the engagement period the bride will be honored guest at a number of parties, and she should show her gratitude by sending flowers to her hostess. At the wedding the bridegroom provides the flowers carried by the bride as well as the corsages for the two mothers if they are present at the ceremony. He also provides the boutonnières for the men of the wedding party. The bride's family provides all of the flower arrangements for the wedding, both at the church and the reception, as well as the flowers carried by the bridesmaids.

There are a number of holidays during the year on which the sending of flowers is a fixed custom. One of the most gracious flower gestures of the whole calendar is the remembering of anniversaries. The entrance of flowers into business has done much to add warmth to the coldness of commercial contacts. There are a number of occasions when the sending of flowers by fellow employees, or by the management, adds a thrill to the daily routine. It is a pleasant courtesy for individuals or other companies to send flowers when a firm moves to a new location or celebrates an anniversary.

The etiquette of flowers, appearing above, was charmingly told by members of the Welcome Branch Book club when they met with Mrs. J. T. Harper for the first meeting of the new club year. Mrs. Harper, the new president, presided, and presented Mrs. H. V. Collins, the program chairman. Those who assisted Mrs. Collins in the quiz of "Etiquette of Flowers," were: Mrs. C. T. Johnson, Mrs. Carey Holmes, Mrs. C. E. Looce, Mrs. O. R. Brauer, Mrs. J. C. Anders, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. Jack Bagwell, Mrs. J. P. Lewis and Mrs. B. E. Gambrell.

At the close of the program a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses: Mesdames H. V. Collins, A. S. Tidwell, B. E. Gambrell, and Mrs. Julius Chandler. Our guests were Mrs. E. C. Sanders, Mrs. George Temple, Members present were: Mrs. B. F. Neely, a new member, and Mesdames Jack Bagwell, O. R. Brauer, H. E. Downing, V. S. Garnett, J. T. Shops You Must Visit with Camille

I am oozing with good news for my out-of-town readers this morning. I am going to do your shopping for you. Drop me a card and let me know what you want. I will use all my Scotch traits of character in bargaining at the shops. Your various and sundry articles, whatever they happen to be, will be sent post haste. SCOUTING ROUND FOR ONE of those greatly-to-be-desired white straw hats I found a perfect honey at SILVERSTEIN'S HAT SHOP. It was hard to make a selection however as there were so many different types... large and small, wide-brimmed and off-the-face. In fact there is a hat at SILVERSTEIN'S for every type so naturally I found just what I wanted for those hot summer days ahead. You will simply love those wide brimmed navy blue milans for daytime wear and those little flower half hats for the lighter moments. The dear little daguerreotype model is waiting for some sweet young thing. Among them is just the right one for you, and you... and I do mean you.

WAR OR NO WAR, I've never seen such expressive greeting cards as those at FERD LEVY'S... there's a bit of sentiment for every occasion and especially for the grandest person in the world... your Mother. Buy your mother a gift for MOTHER'S DAY by all means but don't forget to attach one of FERD LEVY'S cards so that your sentiments will be expressed properly. Let me forget... new swim suits are arriving at FERD LEVY'S... rush down and get yours before they vanish like the morning mist. Be the first to make a splash in the pool when it opens for the summer in a suit that will make even the fish (if there were any) goggle-eyed.

ATTRACTIVE HOMES don't just happen... growing like Topsy out of nowhere. Your beautiful home is the result of consulting an expert... some one who knows how to bring glorious color into your rooms. Of course that someone is MARION LEARNED. She will look at the shabby, faded draperies, chair covers and tell you what color is needed to lift your drab rooms out of the doldrums. A beautiful mirror from her shop will be hung on the wall... a picture placed where it is most needed... a colorful piece of bric-a-brac will light up a dark corner... a miracle has been performed. Aladdin and his magic lamp had nothing on MARION LEARNED. She can open up a new heaven and a new earth for those who dwell in drab, uninteresting homes.

VIVA MEXICO! Straight from the land of tortillas, banderilleros, matadors and picadores, are transported right on our door step the most beautiful little chairs and tables you ever gazed upon. They are on display at the MONROE FURNITURE COMPANY awaiting to be taken home to gladden the hearts of little girls and big girls as well. They are painted extravagantly by South American artists in gorgeous flowers... Matador red, Mexican green and South American blue. The seats are strong... of woven fiber that stands rough usage and stormy weather. Can you imagine how colorful a room would be with several of these chairs scattered around... to say nothing of the garden. I am really embarrassed to mention the prices... they are so very low.

THAT GLEAM IN HIS EYE means that he is happy because his mind is at rest... In his wardrobe hangs the perfect, wrinkle-resistant summer suit from MOORE'S TAILORING SHOP. It was designed to give him that cool, immaculate look all through the long, hot day. Now a word for those fastidious fellows who would like to look as cool as an iceberg when the mercury soars... hurry down to MOORE'S SHOP in the morning, leaving the dishes unwashed if necessary... be fitted for one of those priceless little suits... they are my idea of something close-to-heaven. For the sterner sex there is the perfect fitting pajama suits... something unheard of these days of shortages of this and that. Hand-some ties and shirts are also there aptly.

WHY NOT FORGET the worries that infest the day and go trip the light fantastic with friends and husband or your best hex at THE ARCADE where "peppy" music will drive dull care away. You will never be embarrassed by being in the wrong company at THE ARCADE... Tom Ross, your host, reserves the right to select his own guests. You can take my word for it, the company at THE ARCADE will please the most exacting mortal. Dancing has become more popular since MR. ROSS opened the portals of this abode where care is forgotten. Famous dance orchestras have been booked for the summer months... that means happy hours for those with dancing feet.

"WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS"... that flattering make-up begins with the hair! Why? Because beautiful lustrous hair with natural highlights forms the perfect frame for the face. That's why it seems so thoughtless not to let MARIE WAMSLEY take you in hand... transform you into the kind of person you really want to be. And when you are consulting her about a permanent, an all shampoo or a set, let her recommend the correct tissue cream, massage cream and night cream. Let her rub her own special creams into your face and experience the joy of beholding in the mirror a face radiant with new life and color. Don't think for one minute that you can afford to dispense with her services. Try one of her Studio Girl oil shampoos tomorrow.

DOCTORS SAY WALK for exercise, for stimulation, for relaxation... walk to get fresh air into your lungs but don't walk unless you have been expertly fitted with shoes from HOLLOWAY and THOMPSON. Selling war bonds... rolling bandages... collecting scrap... dozens of duties crowd these busy war-time days... that is why you must take care of your precious feet. There will always be a spring in your step when you wear one of the famous brands of shoes from HOLLOWAY and THOMPSON. For a real morale booster be fitted tomorrow with a pair of magic soled, hidden cushion shoes that shield your foot... be free and buoyant in a pair of shoes from HOLLOWAY and THOMPSON.

Miss Poimboeuf Will Marry Lt. E. Bennett

Announcement Of Approaching Nuptials Is Made Today By Bride-Elect's Mother

Of paramount interest today is the announcement made by Mrs. Ruth Hood Poimboeuf, of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Ruth, to Lieutenant Edmund Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett of Springfield, Ill.

The wedding will take place at the First Baptist church, Friday evening, May 19, at six-thirty o'clock. Although the ceremony will be characterized by wartime simplicity, all the century old traditions will be observed by the bride-to-be, who will wear the traditional wedding gown.

Miss Poimboeuf, a young woman of training personality, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Thomas Lee Hood, the late Dr. Hood of West Monroe, who served the state of Louisiana as governor for sixteen years. Miss Poimboeuf is a graduate of the Ouachita Parish High School and Northeast Louisiana College. She majored in home economics at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute where she was a member of the Upsilon sorority.

Lieutenant Bennett, who is stationed at the Selman field was associated with the Sangamo Electric company of Springfield, Ill., before joining the armed forces.

"The Family After God's Own Heart" is the subject about which we shall think. Such a family is the ideal family, and yet it is within reach of all right thinking and far-sighted parents. The Holy Book is explicit. Nothing is more potent than the influence of such a family. After all the future of Church, State, and Nation will be determined by the family life of the years.
"Godliness Assured" is the theme of the evening message. It is based upon

Recreation Center Aids Teen-Age Girls

If you, as a mother of high school boys and girls, are more baffled than ever in these chaotic days, why not talk to Mrs. Lucyle Godwin Hupman, director of the Monroe Recreation Center, and find out what she is doing in the way of supplying wholesome entertainment for the teen age boy and girl. Mrs. Hupman's work is a matter of helping boys and girls with the things they like to do... simple sports and games and amateur theatricals. Through these channels which furnish the fun motif, it is possible, even with a fluctuating population like Monroe has today, to make a girl feel that she "belongs to something." That she can perhaps be a leader in a small way or at least that she can share with the others.

There is one particular group of boys and girls in Monroe, members of the Tams, who are greatly in need of adult help. Even though Mrs. Hupman is putting forth every effort to make their wish come true, the project they are working on will not materialize unless the mothers and fathers and a few civic spirited citizens rally to their cause.

Members of the Tams have cast their eye on a small concrete building to the south of the Recreation Center. They would like to have it for their permanent habitat... their own home where they could putter around in the kitchen mixing up cookies, a plate of fudge or cook a real supper if they so desired. All their activities would, naturally be under the vigilant eye of Mrs. Hupman whose supervises all activities in connection with the Recreation Center.

The Tams have already gone a long way toward making their dream come true. The building itself is available, under a five-year lease. The big boys have scrubbed the grease out of the former storage house. One organization, "The Reader's Clique," has realized the value of such a rendezvous, and has raised and donated $21 for materials for the new roof.
Sixteen-year-old arms and hands and heads are ready and eager to go to work, but vital ingredients are so far, lacking. They need a director... an architect, or roofer, or contractor, some Monroe father or brother or friend who can tell them how to go about building a new roof, tearing out the old partition, putting in the new ones, making the booths and tables.

The Tams don't intend to be selfish about their "hang out." It, like the fine recreation center adjacent, is the property of Monroe's own department of recreation, and will be for the use of the people of Monroe. Other recreation center clubs will be privileged to operate the soft drink concession they hope to maintain. Any civic or social organization may, upon appointment, use the kitchen. The craft room in the rear will be placed at the disposal of boys and girls of all ages.

Mrs. Hupman and her assistant are at the recreation center throughout the day and evening. They'd like to talk to anyone wishing to make a contribution, or anyone who would be willing to spend a little time with these boys and girls in helping them realize their dream of a place they can call their own.

A distinct honor was conferred upon the music department of the Ouachita Parish High School when a request was made by Mr. Henry Cowell, music consultant, Office of War Information in New York, for a recording of material of school groups. Mr. Lloyd Funchess, member of the department of education of the state university, Baton Rouge, in reply to the letter from Mr. Cowell highly recommended the Ouachita Parish High School choral groups and the director, Miss Velma Nichols.

Miss Nellie Lacey And John Brown Wed

Of interest to friends is the marriage of Miss Nellie Lacey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lacey, and Private John W. Brown, Jr., of the United States marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brown of West Monroe.

The double-ring ceremony took place April 25 at the First Baptist church study in Monroe with Rev. L. T. Hastings officiating.

The bride wore a navy blue model with corsage of white gardenias. Her attendant was Miss Edith Adams, and her two sisters, Misses Lena and Mittie Lacey, Mr. J. A. Sandifer served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Brown, a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school and Monroe Commercial school, has been employed by the state for the past four years and will remain until Private Brown returns.

Private Brown also attended Ouachita Parish High school and then left to enlist in the marine corps where he is now serving. He has just returned from overseas where he served three years. He is now stationed at Crane, Indiana.

Piano Recital Hailed As Outstanding Event

Pupils Of Mrs. Allbritton And Miss Calhoun Given
Rousing Ovation Here

Acclaimed by far as the most brilliant of all the annual ten-piano recitals given at Northeast Junior college, members of the ensemble, directed by Florence Ziegler Allbritton, were given a real ovation when they were presented in the fifth concert of this kind Friday evening, April 28 in the college auditorium. The personnel included piano students of Mrs. Allbritton and Miss Eloise Calhoun.

A representative and appreciative audience gave generous applause in response to a program that evidenced careful planning and splendid execution. Youthful artists evinced ease and sure command of their instruments.

The ensemble played "The Star Spangled Banner" as the curtain opened. "Moonlight Sonata" (Adagio) was a quiet, beautiful movement, played with delicate shadings. "Turkish March," from "Rings of the Earth" was a light, rhythmic number performed with precision, and often achieved the effect of reed instruments of an orchestra. The fourth section in the first series which showed coordinated ensemble work, was "Coronation March" from "The Prophet." It was a brilliant spirited waltz with infectious rhythm.

Miss Sally Foster and Miss Mary Lee Mickel, who have gained popularity in Monroe as a two-piano team, played Grunin's "Valse Brillante" and Chopin's "Bolero" in masterful fashion of fine precision.

Definite contributions to the program were contrasting compositions, "Song of India," rendered by Miss Charlotte Miller and Miss Dorothy Williams, and "Hungary" by Miss Cook and Miss Margaret Ann Cooper. These two-piano numbers were followed by the lilting melody, "Gondoliers" played by Miss Anne McDuffie and Mrs. Allbritton, which was given hearty approval.

Waltz in G, rendered by Miss Alice Hansen and Mrs. Allbritton was characterized by pleasing, harmonious and rhythmic lines.

Two young men, Leroy Thomason and John Baskin, made a fine impression on the audience with their playing "In a Chinese Garden." Outstanding in the evening's entertainment was Tchaikovsky's "Concerto in B Minor" played by Miss Williams and Mrs. Allbritton with poise, assurance and a display of real talent.

The final series presented by the ensemble included "Danse Macabre" written by Saint Saens for the piano, in which technical and interpretive demands were well met in its performance. Appealing to lighter tastes was "Hurdy Gurdy Waltz" by Van Dyke. "In a Persian Market," a descriptive composition portraying scenes of the market place, was one of the best executed numbers of the evening. "Spanish Dance No. 1," one of the best known of Moszkowski's compositions, brought the program to an effective close.

"Valse Caprice," which was to have been played by Miss Ella Louise Mussett, was necessarily omitted because of an injury which the pianist incurred.

Appealing to lighter tastes was "Hurdy Gurdy Waltz" by Van Dyke. "In a Persian Market," a descriptive composition portraying scenes of the market place, was one of the best executed numbers of the evening. "Spanish Dance No. 1," one of the best known of Moszkowski's compositions, brought the program to an effective close.

"Valse Caprice," which was to have been played by Miss Ella Louise Mussett, was necessarily omitted because of an injury which the pianist incurred.

Miss Sally Foster and Miss Mary Lee Mickel, who have gained popularity in Monroe as a two-piano team, played Grunin's "Valse Brillante" and Chopin's "Bolero" in masterful fashion of fine precision.

Definite contributions to the program were contrasting compositions, "Song of India," rendered by Miss Charlotte Miller and Miss Dorothy Williams, and "Hungary" by Miss Cook and Miss Margaret Ann Cooper. These two-piano numbers were followed by the lilting melody, "Gondoliers" played by Miss Anne McDuffie and Mrs. Allbritton, which was given hearty approval.

Waltz in G, rendered by Miss Alice Hansen and Mrs. Allbritton was characterized by pleasing, harmonious and rhythmic lines.

Two young men, Leroy Thomason and John Baskin, made a fine impression on the audience with their playing "In a Chinese Garden." Outstanding in the evening's entertainment was Tchaikovsky's "Concerto in B Minor" played by Miss Williams and Mrs. Allbritton with poise, assurance and a display of real talent.

The final series presented by the ensemble included "Danse Macabre" written by Saint Saens for the piano, in which technical and interpretive demands were well met in its performance. —as a WAVE you can help make such victories possible

It isn't the men alone who are winning Navy sea and air success. Women are in this war, too. Courageous, hard-working women wearing the trim blue uniform of the WAVES. Thousands have "come aboard" in the last year to do a man-size job for the Navy. Battles abroad have been won because of WAVES' work here at home. WAVES are filling vital posts in radio, aviation, communications and other important fields at Naval stations all over the U.S.A. Their work has won a salute from the Navy's top men. Vice Admiral Cook, Commander of the Caribbean Sea Frontier, summed up the Navy's feeling when he said: "The WAVES have become an integral part of the Navy. We have the greater respect for them and pride in their achievement. But still more women are needed to back up the Navy's fighting men. You, if you are between 20 and 35, are urgently needed right now. Your job won't be easy. But will be worth everything you put into it—for the matchless thrill of knowing that, as victories are won, you're paying direct, important part in winning them. So ask yourself: "Is there any job I can do at home more important than the one waiting for me in the WAVES? You know in your heart there's just one answer. So now, today, make a decision that you will be proud of above. Volunteer for the Navy—serve your country as a WAVE."

Arms and Ammunition for the Navy's fighting men flow from the Bureau of Ordnance. The work done here by the WAVES plays a part in keeping weapons moving to the Fleet.

Sending Battle Orders gives any WAVE a tremendous thrill. WAVES run radio rooms in many Naval stations—tap out a steady stream of vital dispatches to our planes and ships.

MONROE, LOUISIANA

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES OF ADVERTISEMENTS BEING SPONSORED BY PATRIOTIC AND OUTSTANDING INDUSTRIES AND MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS OF THE TWIN CITIES

En Passant

Today is too rainy for a picnic—when the generous facilities of the Monroe Recreation Center are available.

Sister Mary Christina, D.C. and Sister Mary Florence, D.C. in whose charge are the pupils of first and second grades of St. Matthew's Episcopal School, were disturbed last week by a rainy day followed another, they had planned a picnic for their youngsters for Thursday, May 4, and a boys and girls were looking forward to it, with characteristic youthful exuberance.

By Tuesday, the sisters were much concerned. The picnic was to have taken place at the lovely me of Mrs. Ralph Marmion. It is in the country, four miles from the city. The children were eagerly looking forward to the ride on the pony, the swinging of seesaws, the acres of grounds on which to play their games. But Tuesday was another rainy day, and the sisters knew that, even if Wednesday and Thursday were clear—which seemed indeed doubtful—the ground would still be too damp for boys and girls to picnic out-of-doors. Perhaps they should postpone the picnic. Perhaps they should hold it in the basement of the school. The children played there every rainy day, but it would be nothing "special" but an outing there.

And then the happy solution came to them in the form of a suggestion from one of the mothers. Wouldn't the Recreation Center be a good substitute? The gymnasium is plenty big for eighty children to romp and play. After all, wasn't the prime purpose of the City Fathers and the Recreation Department in establishing and maintaining the recreation center to make it a meeting place for the youngsters of Monroe?

The Sisters called the Center. Yes, it was available Thursday. Of course the children might use it then—and never they wished.

It was a glorious picnic! Gymnasium on the roof, of the Recreation Center, the boys and girls were too busy with their games to know or care that they had brought their skip-rope, some their balls. They were fascinated with the music of the nickel-ton, and four tiny girls, practiced in hop-scotch court on the concrete floor. A child had brought her pink toy rabbit, but so enraptured was she with all the activities of the day that she forgot to play with it. The children, all eighty of them, in the rudimentary Paul Jones gymnasium, directed by Mrs. Lucyle Marmion, recreational director, had brought a box of lunch. The Sisters had somehow managed to have candy bars and chewing gum distributed.

After King dropped in during the noon and was immediately surrounded by admiring youngsters. At a 2:30 time was had by all the second and fourth grades to have their picnic at the Recreation Center, too—even if it isn't raining.

Among those assisting were Mrs. Spatafore, Mrs. Ann Spatafore, Mrs. Josephine, Mrs. Charles Zapp, Mrs. F. H. Summers, Mrs. C. M. M. N. W. Lottman, Mrs. Ralph Marmion, Mrs. J. A. Maguire, Mrs. L. Lottman, Mrs. George Angelino, Mrs. Paul Hill.

MODELS IN STYLE REVUE SPONSORED BY SELMAN FIELD OFFICERS' WIVES

The bridal procession, climaxing the style revue, one of the most brilliant events, socially, of the season, was the highlight of the fashion parade staged at the Monroe Recreation center and claiming more than seven hundred members of the fashionable world. The "bride" in glamorous wedding regalia, is Mrs. W. E. Ross. Others reading from left to right are: Miss Roberta DeMichele, flower girl; Mrs. Roland Ling, matron of honor; Mrs. J. W. Wendell, bridesmaid; Mrs. Bridger Thornhill, mother of the bride.

The Presbyterian Church stands for the Bible, the application of reason to all problems, the Sovereignty of God, the Christ as Redeemer, Friend and Saviour, and the inestimable value of the soul, the indestructible ego.

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." This promise which the Lord gives us is one on which we can depend. Everyone who has had occasion to seek the Lord in prayer can give a testimony of the help He will give. The trials we all must endure from day to day seem most seem more than we can bear, especially the trials brought on by our friends and loved ones. One who will always love us and understand our efforts is our Saviour. Do you ever feel ashamed of the things you have done or said? What a relief it would be to you to make a confession of your guilt, to the Saviour and to those whom you have wronged. Although the world judges you by your apparent thoughts and actions, how does the Lord judge you when He considers your innermost thoughts and feelings? Be honest with yourself just one time.

WE HAVE MOVED
FROM: 109 N. GRAND
TO: 105 N. GRAND

Building Formerly Occupied by Turner Paint Co.

Yes—We've moved to a new, bigger and better location. To you patrons who have been so loyal—to make this expansion possible—we extend our sincere thanks and appreciation. In our new home we will be able to care for your needs with the same quality service and products that have marked our five years of business in Monroe . . . and we will have room to carry a more complete stock of decorating supplies to serve you efficiently. We have done our post-war planning early so when victory comes we will be ready in our usual dependable manner to serve you.

We are indeed sorry that we have not been able to render you the service that Keystone Paint and Decorating Company has always given . . . but because efficient manpower shortages, material scarcity and government restrictions have made it impossible to render to you this speed and service that has made Keystone the outstanding decorating institution of North Louisiana. When Victory is won . . . and conditions are normal again, which we know will be, we give you our sincere promise that you can depend on the usual speed and quality service from Keystone. In the meantime, we are doing our best and humbly ask your cooperation.

A gal. of SPRED makes 1½ gal. of paint—enough for the average room. You'll like SPRED colors—they're differently fitted to today's decorating needs. Dries in 30 minutes. . . $2.98 no after odor. . . 2 GAL. dirt washes off.
